MOURNING NATION BURIES KENNEDY

Oswald Slaying Will Be Probed By Government

Johnson Proposes to Give American People Full Story of Assassination

By ARTHUR EVERETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Lee Harvey Oswald may have left behind in death a blueprint for the assasssination of President John F. Kennedy.

Oswald was slain Sunday by Jack Ruby, 52, a night club owner and self-appointed executioner, who undertook swift, savage reprisal for the Kennedy murder.

Hours later, the Dallas Morning News, in a copyrighted story, said police officers who searched Oswald's room found a map with a line on it marking the path of the bullet that killed the President during a motorcade Friday. Neither the FBI nor the Secret Service would comment on the news report.

The newspaper quoted what it termed a reliable source as saying:

"This was a map of the City of Dallas. Oswald had placed marks at major intersections along the motorcade route — three or four as I recall. There was also a line from the Texas School Book Depository Building to Elm Street. This was the trajectory of the bullets which struck the President and Gov. (John) Connally."

"Major Evidence"

The map may have constituted what police termed "major evidence" against Oswald in Kennedy's assassination, but which they had refused to reveal.

The News said officers theorized Oswald marked spots on the map from which a sniper could get a good shot at the Kennedy motorcade.

Meanwhile, from Mexico City came another report—this time that Oswald visited the Soviet and Cuban consuls in September and tried to get a visa.

The newspaper Excelsior attributed its report to a high official source which it did not name.

Oswald died Sunday with a single bullet wound in the side, fired by Ruby as he stepped from a crowd of 200 in the basement of the Dallas City Hall.

"It's too good for him!" someone shouted after the 24-year-old self-styled Communist dropped in his tracks, a single cry of anguish escaping his lips. Police quickly overwhelmed and disarmed Ruby.

Seen in Living Rooms

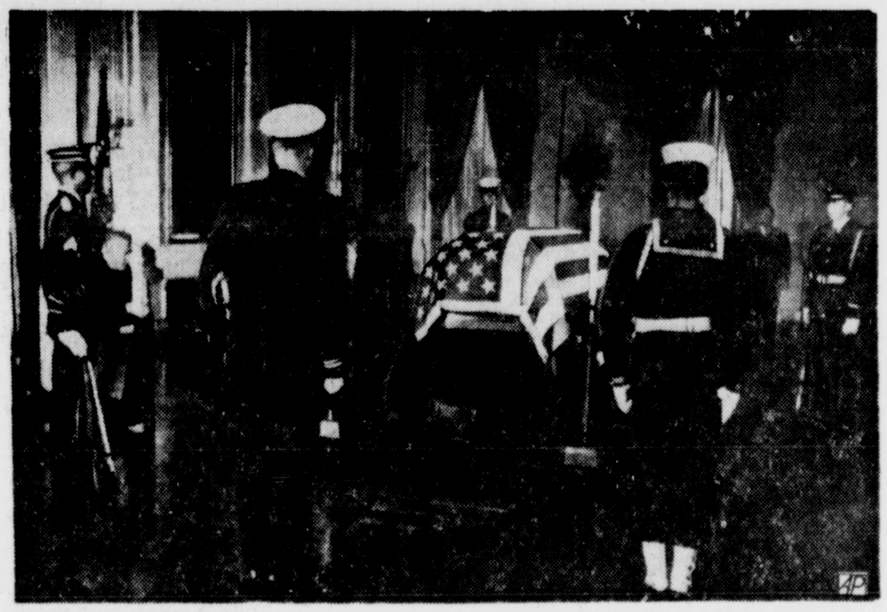

It was an incredible climax to the wildest weekend in Dallas history—a savage, sudden moment of raw drama that was caught by national television networks and broadcast with shocking impact into American living rooms.

"He took Kennedy's death much harder than that of our 88-year-old father five years ago," said Ruby's older sister, Eva Grant. "He couldn't eat Friday. He kept talking about Jackie and the Kennedy kids."

Oswald had been formally accused of the sniper assassination of Kennedy last Friday as the President rode beaming beside his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy, in a triumphal motorcade through downtown Dallas.

Memorial Prayers at Grave Ask That God Bless Future Of New United States President Johnson, Bells Toll Grief

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grieving capital—and the world—said goodby today to John F. Kennedy, dynamic in life and revered in his martyr's death.

The broad streets were lined by hundreds of thousands of people, many of them weeping, as the flag-draped coffin drawn by six white horses went by.

After it came the young widow, Jacqueline, a black veil shielding her face and draping her shoulders. For the first stage of the slow, sad journey she rode in a black limousine.

At the Capitol, 240,000 persons filed past the bier before the funeral procession.

The great copper dome of St. Matthew's Cathedral, blue-green from decades of weathering, glistened in a crisp, clear day as the cortege approached it for the requiem Mass.

As the procession came by the White House on the way to the cathedral the Marine band played a dirge. Earlier, the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers" had filled the air.

Along with the 34-year-old widow of the fallen chief executive, and sorrowing with her, went one of the greatest arrays of world statesmen ever assembled. From 53 countries they came — 26 as heads of state or government.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, an old friend of the Kennedy family, came to celebrate the Mass at the church named for St. Matthew the evangelist and apostle.

Kneels in Prayer

The white horses pulling the caisson carrying the coffin plodded along quietly, but the traditional riderless horse turned, twisted and pranced sideways.

Before the casket was placed on the caisson at the Capitol, Mrs. Kennedy had knelt before it and prayed briefly.

Then, as the coffin was carried from the catafalque, there was a roll of ruffles and flourishes.

"O God of Loveliness," a band played, and the procession began, to the measured cadences of muffled drums and a mournful dirge.

A bell tolled as the cortege approached the White House. It reached there at 11:35 a.m., while church bells tolled mournfully.

Mrs. Kennedy Leads

Then at the White House, Jacqueline Kennedy set out on foot, leading the procession to the cathedral.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy clutched Mrs. Kennedy's hand as they walked out the northwest gate of the White House.

French President Charles de Gaulle was close behind, leading the foreign leaders.

Solemn Curtain Falls Over Grieving County

A curtain of solemnity descended over Ulster County and the City of Kingston as thousands of residents joined grieving New Yorkers today converging on churches and synagogues to pray for the late President John F. Kennedy, who died at the hands of an assassin on Friday.

State, county, city and town officers, schools, most banks, many businesses and industries were closed today in a near unanimous tribute to the late President.

Emergency Services Open

Only those conducting vital services, police and fire protection agencies, hospitals and communications remained at their posts.

Memorial services were scheduled at Temple Emanuel, Albany Avenue at 12:15 today.

Scheduled to participate were Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, Mayor John J. Schwenk, and representing Kingston Area Council of Churches, the Rev. Roy A. Hassel, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church; the Rev. Chester O. Newton of Franklin Street AME Zion Church, and the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of Old Dutch Church.

At 11:30 this morning, Kingston Post 150, American Legion conducted memorial services at the post home with the Rev. Clarance Brown, post chaplain conducting the rites.

A memorial service sponsored by Saugerties Area Council of Churches was scheduled at noon today at Saugerties Reformed Church.

Services Tonight

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Austin V. Carey, pastor of St. John's parish, (West Hurley, Woodstock and West Shokan) will offer a memorial Mass tonight at 5:30 in St. John's Church, West Hurley.

Congregation Agudas Achim, 24 West Union Street, will conduct a memorial service at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Citizens of all faiths are invited. The liturgy will be sung by Cantor Herman Slomovits, according to Rabbi Harold Z. Rappaport.

The Associated Press reported Gov. Rockefeller proclaimed today a legal holiday in New York State before flying to Washington to attend the funeral.

Rockefeller's proclamation designated today as "a day of general prayer and general religious observances, enabling the people of the State of New York. . .to assemble in their respective places of divine worship in reverence and mourning for President Kennedy."

Orders Salute

The governor also ordered a 21-gun salute to be fired at noon at the Capitol, and a 50-gun salute at sundown.

Both salutes will be fired by a contingent of three officers and 23 enlisted men of 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery of Kingston.

They were scheduled to participate in memorial services on the Capitol east steps.

1st. Lt. Charles J. Lockwood Jr., executive officer, Battery A will serve as firing battery executive officer. The firing battery will include four 105mm howitzers in the 21-gun salute and in the 50-gun salute—one for each state—at sundown.

The firing battery are members from Battery A and B and Headquarters, Headquarters and Service Battery.

Religious leaders called New Yorkers of all faiths to special memorial services.

Tolled Bells

Many churches in the state tolled their bells in recognition of a 30-day period of mourning proclaimed by the governor on Friday after the assassination of the president in Dallas, Tex.

Countless athletic and other public events were canceled or postponed over the weekend. Dances, parties and other social affairs were called off as the state mourned the death of the chief executive.

And, from across the state, came expressions of sorrow and sympathy.

The national grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks sent a telegram of sympathy to Mrs. Kennedy and a message of support to President Johnson.

Two Blows Suffered By Dallas

Sorrow Displayed Over Entire City

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS (AP)—In the space of 48 hours, this sparkling metropolis—while trying desperately to show its best face to the world—was degraded twice.

The first time, authorities said, it was by a ne'er-do-well, self-styled Communist with a mail-order rifle: Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, born in New Orleans, charged with the assassination Friday of President Kennedy.

The second time, it was by a small-time, brawling strip joint owner who killed the Communist despite a police cordon: Jack Ruby, 52, born Rubinstein in Chicago, who took it upon himself to act for the courts Americans cherish and shot down Oswald Sunday.

Deep Grief, Shame

Dallas reacted with deep grief and shame to President Kennedy's death.

The reaction to Oswald's death was more complex. Some openly said the killing was a good thing. Others, secretly, thought it. But over most the weight of shame settled more heavily.

The burden of conscience became enormous. That it could happen here!

Dallas has a metropolitan population of more than one million. Its big growth came when Northern and Eastern manufacturers began moving their industrial plants to the city.

It is now a cosmopolitan city.

But it is, indeed, a citadel of political conservatism at certain levels—just, as a matter of fact, as areas in New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Indianapolis.

Possibility Grows GOP Will Turn To Nixon Again

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that Republicans may give former Vice President Richard M. Nixon a second crack at the presidency appeared to be growing today.

The assassination of John F. Kennedy and the ascension of Lyndon B. Johnson to the office has forced a radical reassessment by GOP strategists of the 1964 campaign.

Feel Odds Are Even

Where once they conceded privately they had only an uphill chance of defeating Kennedy's bid for a second term, they now feel the odds are nearly even they may be able to deny Johnson a first elective term.

For a race with Kennedy, many wanted to gamble on the theory that a conservative like Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., could defeat a Democratic liberal.

Now the Republican candidate is likely to face a Democrat identified in the public mind as a Southern conservative. For this is how Johnson is viewed by many, despite the support he has given as vice president to the Kennedy legislative program and his efforts to shed the tag of sectionalism.

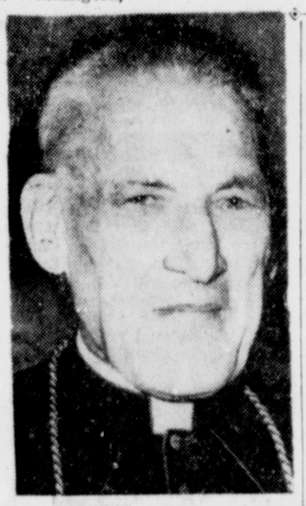

What GOP Desires

Nevertheless, the Republicans perceive a broad avenue leading toward the nomination of a man who can try to out-Johnson Johnson in being for positive action on civil rights and for prudent social welfare programs without having to bear the party umbrage of being a "me-too" candidate.

The Republican who ordinarily would fit this description is Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. But to get his party's nomination, Rockefeller will have to overcome the political liability of divorcing his wife of 35 years and marrying a divorced mother of four children.

If Rockefeller cannnot surmount this political barrier—

Protection Task Staggering One For Security Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—American security officers—still shaken by the assassination of John F. Kennedy — had the staggering job today of protecting some 27 heads of state and government, including President Johnson.

Making the task that much more difficult was the fact that many of them walked in the slow procession behind Kennedy's casket from the White House to St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral several blocks away.

To throw a screen of protection about them, officials used a maximum security plan drawn several months ago, just in case, for guarding the foreign dignitaries in and around the cathedral.

Army security officers, Secret Service agents and metropolitan police devised the elaborate arrangements last spring, church officials recalled, against any eventuality the church might be required for an assembly of important personages.

Threaten Widow Whose Husband Died on PT Boat

ATLANTA (AP) — "Oh, it's just awful and sickening," said an Atlanta widow, Mrs. Jack Kirksey, describing a threatening telephone call she received because she was a friend of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Police are guarding her home.

Mrs. Kirksey's husband was killed aboard PT109 Aug. 1, 1943, at the same time Kennnedy was injured.

As captain of the craft, it was Kennedy's duty to inform Mrs. Kirksey of her husband's death. He kept in touch with her and contributed to her son's education.

She said that the telephone rang Saturday night and a man's voice asked:

"Are you the Kirksey connected with the Kennedys?"

She said she was and quoted the man as saying:

"So you're a nigger-lover too. You'd better stay behind locked doors. We'll deal with you later."

Viewers on TV Look in Stunned Horror at Murder

By ROBERT R. HOLTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Millions of television viewers throughout the nation watched in stunned horror Sunday as a murder was committed. It undoubtedly was the first time so many people witnesses a real-life homicide.

But many looked beyond the grisly aspects of the spectacle to find in the deed some type of justice worked against Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused, but not convicted, of assassinating President Kennedy only two days before.

Against American Code

The overwhelmingly majority of those polled by The Associated Press looked upon Oswald's slaying by Dallas night club proprietor Jack Ruby as a frightening revolt against the American code of justice.

Many thought the murder mirrored a breakdown in the moral standards of the nation. Clergymen condemned it as a serious breach in Christian ethics.

Still others saw in Oswald's death a practical loss. They wondered aloud whether the world would ever know if the true presidential assassin had paid for his crime.

Mixed Feelings

In Dallas, where the slaying of both the President and his suspected killer took place, some openly cheered the killing of Oswald. But many more, along with the clergy and civic leaders, denounced the slaying as an unlawful and damaging act.

In Albany, N. Y., an unidentified woman telephoned a newspaper office to recommend that Ruby be given the Congressional Medal of Honor.

"Good," said Chicago cab driver Carl Moore. "It was justified. The man who did it was a nut. But he (Oswald) got what he deserved."

Views of Officials

Most of those polled felt that a man still inoocent in the eyes of the law had been slain at the hands of a murderer.

Rolland R. O'Hare, district attorney of Detroit, expressed fear that "'due process of the law is on the verge of becoming a victim of assassination."

Mayor Earle Cabell of Dallas issued an urgent appeal "for all of us to come to our senses, to resist hysteria."

MOURNING FOR A HERO—A typical scene as people across the nation and around the world mourned the death of President Kennedy was this Memorial service at 11 a. m. Sunday at St. Joseph's Church, where the faithful joined the clergy in offering their prayers for the repose of the soul of the 35th President. Churches and synagogues throughout the area were filled as Americans demonstrated their prayerful and silent grief over the long, solemn weekend. St. Joseph's, like other churches of President Kennedy's faith, also held a Memorial Mass today as the nation's Chief Executive was laid to rest in a hero's grave at Arlington National Cemetery, while schools, commerce and industry paused in retrospect to mark this dark period in modern history. Call Is Sudden to U. S. Presidency But Johnson Is Well-Trained

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — At 8 o'clock on the morning of July 14, 1960, a ringing telephone summoned Lyndon Baines Johnson to his moment of destiny.

The call came from John F. Kennedy. A day earlier, Kennedy had defeated Johnson for the Democratic nomination for president. Now he said he wanted to talk with Johnson, but he didn't say why.

Two hours later, in Suite 7334, the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, Kennedy asked Johnson to take second place on the ticket.

The vice presidency? Second place?

Johnson is a proud, dynamic, driving man.

Moreover, as Senate majority leader—and an incredibly successful one—he commanded enormous power, far greater than that invested in the office of vice president.

"Once there were two brothers," said Thomas R. Marshall, vice president to Wooodrow Wilson. "'One ran away to sea, the other was elected vice president, and nothing was ever heard of either of them again.'"

But Johnson arouses strong loyalties in others, and he gives his in full measure.

His own chances for the presidency were gone. If Kennedy won, the opportunity probably would not return again until 1968, when he would be 60. He knew the degree of his importance, for eight years, would be determined by Kennedy. As a politician, he also knew that Kennedy needed help in carrying the South, and as a Southerner, that he could provide the political muscle.

And so he accepted second place. He told Kennedy that, henceforth, "LBJ" would signify "'Let's Back Jack."

At 2:39 p.m. last Friday—three years, four months, and eight days later—Lyndon Baines Johnson was sworn in as the 36th President of the United States.

He is the eighth vice president to be elevated to the White House through the death of a chief executive.

What manner of man is he?

Let him profile himself. He once said:

"I am a free man, an American, a U.S. senator and a Democrat in that order. I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Tex-

DA Convinces Dallas Police They Had Airtight Evidence

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "This is it—I've sent men to the electric chair on less evidence than we have against Lee Harvey Oswald."

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade made the claim as he revealed the evidence which convinced Dallas officers they had an airtight case against the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Has No Doubt

"There is no doubt in my mind that Oswald was the killer," Wade said.

Nine hours before Wade spoke to newsmen Sunday night, Oswald, 24, was fatally shot by Jack Ruby, owner of a Dallas lounge. The shooting occurred in the police headquarters basement in front of hundreds of police, Secret Service, FBI men and newsmen, as Oswald was being escorted to an armored car for transportation to new jail quarters.

Not long after Wade finished describing what he said was all the evidence against Oswald, the Dallas Morning News said in a copyrighted story that officers had found a map in Oswald's room which marked the path of the bullets which killed Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally Friday afternoon. Wade had made no mention of this.

Map Shows Route

The newspaper said the map outlined Kennedy's motorcade route, and a line was drawn from the Texas School Book Depository building to Elm Street, where the President and Connally were shot.

Police officers available said they knew nothing of any map. In Washington, the Secret Service and FBI had no comment.

Wade said two facts stood high in the mass of evidence linking the slim, brown-haired Oswald to the slaying.

First, a palm print on the underside of the rifle which fired the bullets that killed Kennedy was identified as Oswald's.

Secondly, Wade said, Oswald had definitely been placed inside the building at the time shots were fired from there at Kennedy.

Prints on Gun

"The gun was here, his prints were on the gun, the gun was the gun that killed Kennedy, his palm prints were on the box on which the killer sat, and witnesses put him on the sixth floor at the time of the shooting."

Asked if he believed Oswald was slain to keep him from talking, Wade said police were looking into that angle, but so far no connection has been established between Oswald and Ruby.

"There is no concrete evidence to go on that there is anyone else connected with the assassination," Wade said, but added that some aspects of the case may still be investigated.

The district attorney said that because Ruby's slaying of Oswald was an assassination "I am certain that I can get the death penalty for Ruby. Ruby walked up to a man who was handcuffed and defenseless and cold - bloodedly assassinated him."

Adds Some Details

Wade added several specific details to evidence previously brought out.

He said Oswald bought the Italian-made assassination rifle in March from a Chicago mail order firm, at a cost of slightly more than $12. The FBI, he said, confirmed the serial number of the mail order rifle matched that of the rifle that fired the shots at Kennedy.

Wade said police found a photograph showing Oswald holding the rifle, at what he called an "at attention" stance. In one hand, Oswald held the rifle and in the other copies of the Daily Worker and a Fascist publication, The Militant.

There was no evidence that showed Oswald was a member of the Communist party, Wade said. "However, there was lots of material dealing with communism, such as the Daily Worker, and there was even more material dealing with the Fair Play for Cuba organization."

Officers said earlier Oswald told them he was a Communist, and was proud of it.

Wade also said three ejected shells, of an odd calibre that came from the assassination rifle found on the floor, were located near the box at the ambush window where a palm print of Oswald's was impressed.

Mourning Nation Buries Kennedy

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen headed a group from Congress.

The youthful President, who sought peace in an age of hot and cold wars, finds his own peace beside the nation's heroes in Arlington National Cemetery—in a grave overlooking the memorial of another martyred president, Abraham Lincoln.

Pray for New President

But with the prayers for the dead there were hopes for the new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, who briefly lays aside the awesome problems he inherited to lead 26 presidents, prime ministers and kings in paying respect to the assassinated Kennedy.

Not since the burial of the Unknown Soldier 40 years ago has there been such a gathering in Washington.

And many, if not all, of the 100 or so dignitaries—including French President Charles de Gaulle, Prince Phillip and Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home of Britain, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany—are to join the griving Mrs. Kennedy in a sombre procession that will walk behind the horse-drawn caisson bearing Kennedy's body to St. Mathew's Roman Catholic Cathedral.

Cushing Says Mass

The low pontifical Mass was celebrated by Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston and an old friend of the Kennedy family.

Because of the space limitations, only those with invitations will be allowed up the 13 steps and into the dark-red brick church.

But in a moving display of sorrow and affection, Americans mighty and humble paid their respects to their slain leader by the hundreds of thousands.

They choked the sidewalks along Pennsylvania Avenue and flooded the capitol grounds Sunday as the late President's body was carried past them on a caisson drawn by six horses. Then came the dark riderless horse, with empty cavalry boots reversed in the stirrups, the traditional symbol of a slain warrior.

And after the procession passed, the crowd of spectators broke through the police lines and by the thousands marched silently up the broad avenue to the white capitol crowning Capitol Hill.

Pass Bier All Night

All night long and into the morning they passed the bier lying with its guard of honor under the Capitol rotunda. At times the line extended nine miles, involving a seven-hour wait.

Some cried. Some carried children in arms to let them have a brush with history.

But even as the crowds waited along Pennsylvania Avenue for the start of the procession Sunday a new shock whispered through the throngs:

Lee Harvey Oswald, the 24-year-old Marxist and ex-Marine charged with killing Kennnedy, was himself gunned down and died in an emergency room at Dallas' Parklawn Hospital, not 10 feet from where Kennedy had died Friday.

Oswald breathed his last shortly after the late President's body was carried by nine servicemen into the Capitol.

Thorough Probe

But for President Johnson, the case was not closed. He ordered the FBI to make an investigation into Oswald's killing in the Dallas jail basement by a self-appointed executioner, Jack Ruby, the operator of a Dallas strip joint.

As Oswald slumped to the floor clawing at his stomach one of the 200 jamming into the basement shouted: "It's too good for him."

Not long after Oswald died hundreds of miles away, Mrs. Kennedy, her eyes shadowed by fatigue and grief, stood with daughter Caroline before the flag-draped casket in the Capitol and heard Chief Justice Earl Warren speak these words in eulogy to the late President:

"If we really love this country; if we truly love justice and mercy; if we fervently want to make this nation better for those who are to follow us, we can at least abjure the hatred that consumes people, the false accusations that divide us and the bitterness that begets violence.

"Is it too much to hope that the martyrdom of our beloved President might even soften the hearts of those who would themselves recoil from assassination, but who do not shrink from spreading the venom which kindles thoughts of it in others?"

The other eulogies were delivered by the late President's congressional leaders, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and House Speaker John W. McCormack, the tall white-haired Bostonian who had watched the Harvard-educated millionaire's son move swiftly up from House to Senate to White House.

"We must thank God," said McCormack, "that we were privileged, however briefly, to have had this great man for president."

John Jr. had also accompanied his mother and sister to the services, but too young to understand fidgeted and finally had to be led away. His third birthday is today.

And then at the end, Mrs. Kennedy walked up to the closed coffin with little Caroline beside her. She knelt and kissed it.

Later in the night and alone except for Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, she returned and passing through the long lines of those who came to pay their respect, she once again knelt and kissed her husband's casket.

White Mop Wringer manufacturers various cleaning equipment.

He could have added that he is the descendant of Baptist preachers and educators, and that he has been a schoolteacher, a law student, a congressional secretary, a farm hand, a road worker, a janitor, a truck driver, a dishwasher, and a Navy lieutenant commander who received the Silver Star from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Has Energy, Focus

He has two dominant qualities —energy and focus.

As a senator, Johnson worked 14 and 16 hours a day. His day started at 6:30 a.m. with coffee, the New York and Washington newspapers, and the Congressional Record.

He would go to his offfice at 8, sometimes dictating to a secretary in the car.

In a day, it was not uncommon for him to receive 70 callers, 650 letters, 500 telephone calls. How does anyone know? His staff maintained a chart, a kind of box score, that showed the numbing statistics.

"Come on, let's function — let's function," he would say, when things seemed to be bogging down.

Job Comes First

His wife, born Claudia Alta Taylor, and nicknamed "Lady Bird" by her Negro nurse, once said of him:

"At night he comes home dog-tired. We seldom go out. Lyndon says he can't put on a black or white tie every night and still do his job."

On July 2, 1955, a heart attack felled Johnson.

He stands 6-3 and he weighed 200 pounds at the time.

Convalescing, he was ordered by his doctors to cut his weight his habit of chain-smoking cigarettes, and his working hours.

He lost 25 pounds and stopped smoking. But he was soon back at the same working pace.

He is so focused, so highly concentrated, that when he has something on his mind he seeems not to be able to leave it, even temporarily.

An incident—

This reporter went to his office one day for a prearranged interview. Johnson had just won an important objective on the Senate floor. He could not sit still. He fidgeted and twisted behind his desk.

He seemed to listen to the first question but said, "Excuse me a second." Then he placed a telephone call. When he hung up, he asked that the question be repeated. It didn't register. He already was phoning another man. Several telephone calls later, interspersed with instructions to several staff members, we got through the first question. Then I gave up, hoping for a better day.

Thus—prior to the heart attack at least—he was completely absorbed in his work. He said he had been too busy to read books, listen to music. If he went to a ball game it was "for the company."

Johnson's close friend, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., once said of him:

"Lyndon Johnson hasn't got the best mind in the Senate. He isn't the best orator. He isn't the best parliamentarian. But he is the best combination of all those qualities.'"

In his Senate office, Johnson had a large, framed legend which said, "You Ain't Learnin' Nothin' When You're Talkin'."

He is a good listener and he comes now to the greatest learning job in the world.

Admits Illegal Beer Charge, Faces Sentence

A St. Remy man, who was convicted this summer on a charge of opening the bear cage at Forsyth Park, today admitted a charge of illegally providing beer for minors.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman adjourned sentencing of Lester C. Jansen, 25, to Dec. 2.

Patrolmen Louis Sapp and Curtis VanDemark charged Jansen with a section dealing with "permitting children to attend certain resorts." They arrested Jansen last Oct. 22 and charged that he purchased beer which was served to two teenage boys outside of the Broadway business place where it was purchased.

Earlier, on July 16, police charged that Jansen opened the bear cage at Forsyth Park. The cage door was secured by Patrolmen George Barringer and Otto Short after police were notified that it was opened. Jansen was sentenced to a term of 30 days in the County Jail when he admitted a disorderly conduct charge, an offense which was reduced from a malicious mischief charge, a misdemeanor.

In other cases today:

Albert Boomer, 25, of Port Ewen, paid a $10 fine when he admitted charge of leaving a motor vehicle unattended. Mary Kelderhouse, 48, of 262 Linderman Avenue, paid a $10 fine when she admitted a speeding charge.

Johnson Will Meet Statesmen Of World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson travels the last miles with John F. Kennedy today—and then sets his own course in meetings with a massive array of world statesmen.

Everyone watched for clues as to how Johnson would get along with President Charles de Gaulle of France. De Gaulle differed from Kennedy on such great questions as NATO, the and the French government's insistence on its own nuclear force.

Whether Johnson, noted as a master persuader when he was the Democratic leader of the Senate, would get together with De Gaulle on an in-depth discussion of world affairs was not yet certain. But the possibility remained.

First came the sad task of accompanying the martyred President Kennedy's body to the grave. Part of the journey was to be afoot, from the White House to St. Matthews Cathedral for the requiem mass, then by car to Arlington National Cemetery, for a hero's burial.

Widow to See Dignitaries

After the funeral, Mrs. Kennedy arranged to receive the foreign dignitaries at the White House. Then Johnson plunges into his first round of personal diplomacy as President.

He scheduled a 90-minute reception — 5:30-7 p.m. — for the more than 100 foreign dignitaries who journeyed to Washington to pay their respects to the late President Kennedy.

The social gathering in the State Department's diplomatic reception rooms gives the new President little opportunity for more than a passing contact with foreign leaders with whom he will have more dealings later.

Today's emphasis, however, was on mourning, not international affairs.

But in these swift moving days Johnson had to work business in between the hours of mourning.

Sunday he accompanied the Kennedy cortege from the White House to the Capitol where the flag-draped casket was placed in state under the dome of the rotunda.

He also talked over the federal budget for next year and held a top-level review of the troubled South Vietnamese situation.

Carrying through on an appointment originally set up by Kennedy, Johnson heard a report from the U.S. ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge.

Major Policy

White House sources subsequently announced that Johnson approved this three-point major policy directive:

1. The United States remains determined to help South Viet Nam stamp out the Communist Viet Cong.

2. Still in force is the Kennedy objective of withdrawing at least 1,000 U.S. servicemen from Viet Nam by the end of this year, and pulling out virtually the whole contingent of 16,000 men by January 1965.

3. All U.S. personnel in South Viet Nam should aid the new, post-Diem Saigon government "in its consolidation, in its development of public support for its policies and for winning the war against the Viet Cong."

Wounded When Rifle Explodes

A 40-year-old man was wounded Sunday shortly before 10 a. m. when his rifle exploded as he was target practicing on the Harry Hess farm in the Town of Greenville, Greene County.

Leeds State Police reported Mathew John Mannix, of 50 Ocean Avenue, Center Moriches, was taken to Albany Medical Center by his friends. He was treated for lacerations of the right eye, face and head. Troopers said Mannix was admitted at the hospital for further treatment and his condition was listed as good.

With Mannix at the time of the shooting mishap were James F. Burke, 43 Columbia Street, Port Jefferson; Harry Hess, of Stony Brook, and Merry Hess Jr., of Bellport. They reported the accident to troopers on their return from Albany.

Liken Weekend of Violence To Less Civilized Locale

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's time America took a look at itself.

When an African or Asian leader is slain it may be regarded here as the result of a society less advanced than this one. This is an American myth, as Americans have demonstrated once again.

Cites Violence

A president and a policeman shot to death and a governor wounded in Dallas and the man charged with the crimes in turn murdered, before he got a fair trial, by a gunman who leaped through police lines to shoot him.

These crimes are a product of the American society where violence and talk of violence increase as state officials defy federal court orders until troops are called out to stop them.

Yet, supreme achievements of the Western world are supposed to be respect for law, democratic and orderly change in government, a fair trial, and freedom and protection of freedom for the individual man, no matter who he is.

If President Kennedy had been the first president killed in office, it would be awful enough.

Ignoes Peaceful Change

It would mean one individual, ignoring constitutional and peaceful change in government, decided to take the law into his own hands to eliminate an elected leader.

But killing American presidents, or trying to, is now assuming the complexion of a tradition. Four have been assassinated: Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley, and now Kennedy.

Attempts were made on the lives of three other presidents: Jackson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Truman. A gunman shot Theodore Roosevelt after his presidency but while he was seeking re-election.

In that same period of almost 100 years not one British prime minister was assassinated. A madman did kill a prime minister, Spencer Perceval, 151 years ago.

More Dedicated

It can't be argued the British are basically different or that among them the percentage of lunatics or discontented are proportionately smaller. They are simply more dedicated to peaceful and orderly government.

As long ago as 1200 B.C. an Egyptian king, Ramses III, looking over his own administration of law and justice, said: "I made the land safe so that a lone woman could go on her way freely and none would molest her."

That's more than the United States can say today, 3,100 years later, even about the safety of its presidents. But the worst criminal, even the killer of a president, is entitled to a fair trial.

Even here in Washington, the nation's capital, there is growing uneasiness about walking the streets at night because of the number of people being robbed, stabbed, shot or dragged into alleys to be raped.

Not Safe on Street

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice a presidential candidate and now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, found exactly one month ago, also in Dallas, that not even a man in his position was safe from some violence on the street.

After leaving an auditorium, where he made a speech on the 18th birthday of the United Nations, he was surrounded by pickets, one of whom spat in his face. He was hit on the head with a sign carried by a woman.

Stevenson, who has a fine sense of history, freedom and justice, told her: "It's all right to have your own views but don't hit anyone."

Sunday Chief Justice Earl Warren, at a eulogy beside Kennedy's casket, wondered what moved "some misguided wretch" to murder the President.

Acts Stimulated

He said: "We do know that such acts are commonly stimulated by forces of hatred and malevolence such as today are eating their way into the bloodstream of American life. What a price to pay for fanaticism."

He knows about fanaticism. Hate has spilled all over him and the other justices of the Supreme Court for their decisions on the side of freedom and civil rights.

He has been ridiculed and mocked. There have been calls to lynch him and impeach him for "giving aid and comfort to the Communist conspiracy."

Also Sunday former Vice President Richard M. Nixon asked all Americans to "pledge themselves to fight this tendency of hatred and violence we've seen in the last two days. We cannot help but deplore a man taking the law into his own hands."

And Dr. A. Raymond Grant, a Methodist bishop in Oregon, said: "I shuddered when I learned that crowds cheered when Lee Oswald had been killed. God have mercy upon us, that human life has become so cheap and that tragedy has been heaped upon tragedy."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 25, 1963

DAY OF MOURNING

Today there was laid to rest another martyred President of the United States of America and the entire world bowed its head in reverence to his memory. John Fitzgerald Kennedy made the supreme sacrifice for the country he so truly loved.

That his New Frontier goals for the advancement of human rights for all mankind was esteemed by people from all walks of life including kings, queens and heads of various governments of the world was evidenced by their display of homage and their active participation at his funeral rites in the nation's capital. No greater open manifestation of love, respect and devotion was ever shown a man of this or any other generation.

When a leader of great power and presence and capacity for good dies in office, the cause to which he gave leadership suffers grievous loss. President John F. Kennedy was such a man. The cause he served, and so eloquently led, was the threefold cause of human dignity and equality and freedom.

Though President Kennedy is dead, struck down most foully by an assassin's hand, the cause he championed as acknowledged leader of the free world lives on. We who survive him can best honor his memory by doing all in our power to advance that cause, which is the very cause for which this nation was founded.

Guidance for the difficult time ahead may be taken from the immortal words spoken by Abraham Lincoln on that solemn occasion at Gettysburg almost exactly a century ago. For President Kennedy died in defense of freedom as truly as did those who fell on that historic field of battle. In these days of profound national sorrow it is appropriate to reflect on Lincoln's exhortation to his fellow Americans "that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

To resolve thus and to act thus—that is the task to which we must now turn our minds. This is so even though grief and a deep sense of loss will far outlast the initial period of outraged shock at the murderous act in Dallas. We cannot permit ourselves the luxury of heedless sorrow. The forces that work against the realization of man's highest dreams remain strong and malignant. Those forces must now be countered with new dedication, so that President Kennedy's martyrdom in the fullness of life shall indeed not have been in vain.

It is sad to think that such a savagely brutal act could happen in our country. This and the subsequent murder of his alleged assassin emphasizes forcibly and unmistakably that his great effort to banish hatred, malice and ignorance must be carried forth with firm determination.

The black curtain of shame has been lowered by these tragic occurrences on our image to the world. No more fitting memorial to the memory of our late beloved President Kennedy could be erected than the dedication of this generation to his ideals of decency, dignity and good will which he so steadfastly strove to accomplish.

It is well for all of us to recall the words of John Fitzgerald Kennedy when he accepted the presidency of the United States: "Ask not what your country will do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

The heaviest burden falls upon Lyndon B. Johnson, who became President the moment John F. Kennedy succumbed to the assassin's bullets. But all citizens must in some measure share that burden. In his first public utterance as chief evecutive, President Johnson said this to the American people: "I will do my best. That is all I can do. I ask your help—and God's." It is a commitment, and a challenge, worthy of the best that is in all of us.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE CAMPAIGN THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

Always, before, you had supposed that in America the game would be played by the rules. Assassination, as a means of striking down a head of government, was something that happened in benighted lands. True, there were those things that had happened before you were born; the killing of McKinley by an anarchist, the tragic deaths of Lincoln and Garfield at the hands of men whose minds were obviously unhinged. But anarchism, since the beginning of the century, had dwindled to nothingness as a philosophy of political action, and one had assumed that modern presidents were somehow proof against the evil intensions of the insane.

A Huey Long might be shot, but a Roosevelt, a Truman, a Kennedy, no. Suddenly, with the news from Texas, you know that the rules cannot be trusted. Mad men and haters can set them aside. And your sorrow takes a double dimension; a young an intensely charming leader has gone, and so has your trust, maintained throughout a long life of writing, that the political wars in your country will always be carried out with a fundamental decency.

When a man dies, it is bad enough. But when the vision of living people dies along with a man, the sorrow is almost too great to be borne.

What one feels like screaming at this moment is a warning to a nation that political controversy must not be conducted with hate. As a commentator I had looked forward with great zest to a 1964 contest for the Presidency between John F. Kennedy and Barry Goldwater. You know why? Because it would have been, if it had been destined to come off, a battle between two good-humored and charming men. The two liked each other, even though they disagreed about most things in the ideological spectrum. Goldwater often disconcerted some of his overzealous and more humorless followers by saying that Kennedy had great charm. And President Kennedy liked to rib his old friend Barry in a good-natured way by saying that he should stick to something he was good at — for example, amateur photography. Goldwater knew it was kidding, and was warmed by it.

If these two had been fated to oppose each other, the serious controversy of a Presidential campaign year would have been laced with fun. The cries of zealots would have been heard, as they always are heard, but the two principals in the contest would certainly have disowned those whose stock in trade is the smear. We would have been treated to a fair, clean and even humorous battle of ideas, and the zest, in following it, would have been something to treasure.

Now the future is clouded. The importance attached to ideological differences suddenly dwindles. What one feels is that the way in which the world's controversies are to be conducted is far more important than winning a victory for one idea or another. The rules of decency must be re-established; the resort to violence must be abhorred no matter what great end it may be supposed to bring about.

John F. Kennedy liked to win. But he was not a hater. Somehow I wish he had really hated some foreign haters — Castro, for instance. But this is an illogical demand. Kennedy's hopes that he might get his way even in the foreign field through reason was part of his courteous nature, and it was good for his own countrymen to have such a man in the White House.

THE WELL CHILD

Give Sweaty Sock Disease Only the Correct Treatment

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Feet, just as the rest of our bodies, perspire. But everyone doesn't have what Dr. W. B. Gibson has named the "sweaty sock disease." This is a previously unrecognized disease that is especially common in children 5 to 10 years old.

If your child has it, you may have thought he was suffering from eczema, athlete's foot, excessive sweating or a reaction to the dyes used to color socks or cure leather.

The fault may lie in the use of socks of non-absorbent synthetic textiles. Such socks may not allow the perspiration to evaporate quickly enough. The condition can be aggravated by wearing rubbers or rubber-soled sneakers and by excessive walking in rain or snow.

When the skin is waterlogged, friction against the shoes and between the toes may produce blisters or raw areas. Socks or shoes that are too tight or not properly fitted will also aggravate the condition.

Since the raw feet become painful, the child cannot participate in sports. To make matters worse, his parents may start treating him with some leftover salve that had helped the baby's eczema. Any kind of greasy ointment will further prevent evaporation of the normal perspiration.

Or, just as bad, the parents may treat the feet vigorously with some medicine they saw advertised for athlete's foot. Many a simple skin condition in children and adults has been made worse by treatment with strong drugs that irritate the tender inflamed skin.

Treatment should start by removing the cause immediately. Well-fitting socks of cotton or wool should be worn and changed at least once a day. Sneakers, if worn in the gym, should never be worn all day. In the house, the child should be encouraged to walk in his stocking feet or barefoot. Slippers or sandals should be worn as much as possible.

For the first three or four weeks of treatment of the acute stage, the feet should be soaked in cool corn starch solution using two tablespoons to a quart of water. If infection is present, your doctor may want to prescribe the local application of an antibiotic mixture.

NEEDLING THE LADIES

A British scientist advocates more housework as a cure for boredom among women. Prof. Dennis Gabor, an electronics expert who might be expected to favor all types of domestic labor savers, has little regard for push-button cooking, frozen foods, pastry mixes and so forth. He thinks they lead only to frayed nerves.

At least that is what he says. We suspect that he is being facetious, and is enjoying the fact that he has stirred the ladies' displeasure.

While it is undoubtedly true that the leisure time given to women through inventive genius is not invariably put to the best use, if the housewife were denied a vacuum cleaner, electric refrigerator, heat-regulated oven and easy-to-prepare food she would quickly be moved to rebellion. Grandma got along without labor-saving wonders and did not complain much. But that was because nothing better was available. Grandma would have rebelled, too, had she had today's labor-saving devices and then been deprived of them.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The first compulsory arbitration board set up by Congress to settle a railway labor dispute is required by law to submit its findings by Nov. 26.

The board will decide whether firemen must be employed on freight train diesel locomotives and the make-up of freight train and yard crews.

So many other crises have arisen since a congressional resolution created this arbitration board last Aug. 28—just eight hours before a nation-wide rail strike was scheduled—that many people may have forgotten what this was all about.

The seven-man board appointed by President Kennedy— three public members, two management and two labor representatives under chairman Ralph T. Seward — has just completed eight weeks of hearings on the two key issues they were given to decide.

The arbitration board's findings will go into effect not later than Jan. 25, or 60 days after being handed down. The final and binding award will stay in effect as long as the board directs. But this cannot be for more than two years unless the carriers and the five brotherhoods agree otherwise.

The congressional resolution setting up these conditions also bars any strike or any rule changes by management before Feb. 25, 1964. And it calls for resumption of bargaining between mangement and labor on four other issues in the four-year-old dispute.

These four management-proposed work rule changes were left in abeyance by the strike crisis last August:

Revise wage standards for engine and train crews to reflect increased speed and longer runs for a day's pay.

Eliminate rules banning crews from operating through present crew-change points.

Abolish the lines now drawn between work performed by road crews and yard crews.

End rules requiring the pay of standby operating employes when self-propelled equipment is used in track maintenance, repair or inspection.

AT THE SAME TIME, the brotherhoods also have demands which must be submitted to final negotiations, even though the carriers already have accepted presidential commission recommendations on these principal points:

Job security for 27,000 firemen with dismissal pay or retraining benefits for 13,000 others.

Pay operating train crews on both time and miles basis, raising wages for 75 per cent of the workers.

Pay freight crews for overtime after eight hours on road.

Reduce maximum hours work per day, per week, per month.

Pay for holiday work at time-and-a-half of hourly rate.

Provide lodging for employes away from home.

Handing down the arbitration award on the two key issues is expected to speed negotiations on these other points. But if the award favors one side, it is likely to make the other side take a tougher position in the renewed bargaining.

IN THE THREE MONTHS since Congress provided for compulsory arbitration on the two key issues there has not been time for the board to hit the road and investigate work rule practices first-hand. The board has had to rely on oral and written testimony.

In connection with the latter, the arbitrators have not ignored the voluminous record piled up on this case by the National Mediation Board, two emergency boards, and a presidential commission.

The big question is, how far will the arbitration board depart from previous recommendations?

Congress has been severely criticized by labor leaders for setting a compulsory arbitration precedent in this case, affecting 200,000 "on train" employes.

But it is notable that Congress did not provide the settlement would be binding forever. If either the carriers, or the brotherhoods change positions after the two-year period, the dispute can be opened up all over again on other terms.

The President's Life, A Sacrifice to Peace

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Thomas Gray, in his classic "Elegy" of two centuries ago, wrote: "The boast of heraldy, the pomp of power, and all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave, awaits alike the inevitable hour." But while life on earth is finite, neither the American people nor the peoples of the rest of the world were prepared last Friday to see the sudden transfer of Presidential power in the United States that came in the wake of a hideous and unforgivable crime.

John F. Kennedy was a sincere man, a conscientious man—a public servant with a high sense of fidelity to his office and to the people. How can we explain the abrupt separation of the President at age 46 from service to his country? Why was he removed overnight from the international councils in which he sought so earnestly to carry forward the task of averting a nuclear war?

Pope Paul VI utered in Rome his prayerful wish that the death of President Kennedy "may not hinder the cause of peace but may serve as a sacrifice and as an example for the good of all mankind."

God has taken from us a man in the prime of his life, with tasks left unfinished, as a disheartened and distraught world goes into mourning. Could the meaning be that we who are left behind have not sensed the neglect of responsibility by peoples to find ways to eradicate inside each country the perils to human life, including the ravages of crime? Was this God's way of serving warning to us all that the erratic behavior of the mentally disturbed among us and of the delinquents in our society can no longer be given just cursory attention?

Why are rifles and revolvers sold to persons whose records betray symptoms or signs of mental attitudes that can lead to the destruction of their fellow men? Crime in America is growing, but there is a tendency to shrug it off as merely a consequence of an increasing population.

Government security measures now will come in for constructive criticism. But many a President disregards the need for some of the extra precautions. The Secret Service itself is powerless to do all that it wishes to do. If a President, for instance, insists on riding in an open automobile while campaigning in big cities, cannot the technicians invent some transparent canopy for the vehicle that would really be bullet proof?

The man arrested for the crime in Dallas — Lee Harvey Oswald—went to the Soviet Union in 1959, renounced his allegiance to the United States and gave back his passport. Yet later his trip back to this country was financed by the government of the United States itself. He then engaged in activities of a pro-Castro committee and he distributed literature which showed his sympathies with Marxism and communism. Here was an erratic individual whose record was known to our government authorities in every detail. Should such a man have been permited to buy lethal weapons?

The whole world was shocked by the crime. Many a person, including this writer, has been sick at heart these last few days over the act of the despicable criminal.

It was not, however, the first of such tragedies. There now have been four assassinations of Presidents in office in this country. Each incident occurred in a public place. This writer was a public school student in Buffalo, N. Y., when Presiden William McKinley was assassinated there just after finishing a public speech at the Pan-American Exposition. There were few telephones then and, of course, no radio or television. It took two hours after the event for the nation to learn of the tragedy as newspaper extras flashed their big headlines to a stunned people. All of us were bewildered and depressed by what happened, and Mr. McKinley lingered on for several days before he passed away. The assassin was an anarchist—the forerunner of the present-day Communist subversive. He was later electrocuted.

While danger of other possible assassinations was recognized thereafter, public men began not many years later to take chances again. It has long been regarded by police experts as almost impossible to protect a President and other prominent figures against snipers firing from windows of high buildings. d.. k-sa

It ill behooves anyone to attribute a motivation for such crimes as that in Dallas to any group or faction or political party in this or any other country. For each of the four assassinations of American Presidents was the deed of a deranged man with a particular grievance of his own, his disordered mind bent on vengeance. Lee Harvey Oswald was dishonorably discharged from the U. S. Marines in 1959. In January, 1962 he wrote to John Connally, now Governor of Texas but formerly Secretary of the Navy, a letter in which he said, "I shall employ all means to right this gross mistake of injustice." Gov. Connally was seriously wounded in the same burst of shots that killed President Kennedy. The murder of Oswald himself on Sunday was the passionate act of another vengeful man.

The tragic ending of the career of John F. Kennedy will serve to remind all of us that, while man is mortal and faces "the inevitable hour," our human society within the span of our lives can do much more than has been done to isolate the mentally unbalanced who are permitted to buy rifles and pistols and roam at will menacing citizens on city streets and in their homes everywhere as crime produces in America the highest number of victims in all our history.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Miami, Florida—It was a cold night long ago. Women in sweaters walked with their arms folded. A steam locomotive stood panting at the Flagler Street station. The Fairfax Theatre was doing good business with a Thelma Todd picture. A Clyde liner was moored to a dock near the News tower.

Some people went to the old Capitol Theatre. It had a good stage presentation, in addition to a gang movie with James Cagney. The pit orchestra was on the stage. This was an innovation. When they played Lover Come Back to Me, the string section stood for eight bars, then sat, and the brass section stood for eight. It was hot stuff.

There was a chorus of cuties. They kicked in unison across the stage and back again. They were dressed in sailor uniforms, except that the cuffs of the pantaloons never got further south than their hips. At the end of the presentation, the girls pulled slowly on a thick nautical rope. It kept coming out of the wings, but no one knew what was on the end of it. At last, the end of the rope appeared, tied around the neck of a little rhesus monkey.

On him was a sign: "Al Capone." It was a wow finish. The curtain came down slowly, the band leader took a bow in front of the curtain, and the coming attractions went on the screen. Next week would be Mae Murray and Lew Cody in Should A Woman Tell? The message said: "Only Now Can This Daring Story Be Told!!!"

Up in the balcony, a fat man took a cigar out of his mouth. "Come on," he said, and five other men stood. They followed him down the ramp, past the police usher with the flashlight, and out into the lobby. The cashier was a fat, frustrated woman who chewed gum and watched the fashions walk by and hated movies.

"I wanna speak to the manager," the fat man said. The cashier pressed a buzzer. In a moment, a stout smiling man came out. "Yes?" he said. The Fat One said: "How come you got them broads pulling on a rope a little monkey comes out and his name is Al Capone?" The manager frowned a moment. Then he laughed. "Oh," he said, "the monkey. Hysterical. Completely hysterical."

"I din laugh," the Fat One said. "My name is Al Capone," and he hauled off from away out where the cars were parked and punched the manager in the nose. Mr. Capone hit the man so hard that the manager broke both shoe laces. The cashier stopped in mid-chew, with the jaws open.

Mr. Capone and his torpedoes studied the flattened manager and, like good customers, walked back up to the balcony in time to see the start of the Cagney picture. Capone was dying to know how a gangster should act. The manager got to his feet. His nose was bleeding and, instead of pointing straight ahead, was aimed a bit to the right.

He phoned the Miami police. He said he had just been creased by a wise-guy customer. A cop responded in a squad car. He was originally a back-woods Georgian and had little faith in the gun bouncing on his hip. "Show me where he is," he said to the manager, and the manager held a handkerchief to his horn and led the policeman up to the balcony. "There," he said, pointing.

The policeman was quiet. He reached inside his uniform and pulled out a razor and unfolded the blade. He reached over to Al Capone and laid the blade lightly beside his neck. "You want to come along, mister" he said, or you wanna make trouble?" Capone's hoods stood. They looked like petrified pallbearers.

The boss, who owned an island in Miami and who had once sustained a bad scar from a razor, waved them away. "I'll go along," he said politely. The cop moved the razor as Capone moved. It never left the skin of the neck. "That's right smart of you," he said. "Right smart."

The manager watched the Capone mob move out. His nose hurt, but the right had triumphed. He went back down to the cashier. She was so excited that she was chewing the wrapper the gum came in. "Was that Capone?" she said. "I mean, really?" The manager nodded. "Just another hoodlum," he said. "He'll get his."

The picture went on, and the people saw Cagney snarl when he was cornered and, when the cops had the searchlights on his hideout and asked him to come out with his hands up, his answer was a chattering tommy gun. But the right always triumphs in the end, and Cagney got his. He died on his back, calling "Momma. Momma."

The movie crowd was just coming out when three cars drove up. A high ranking police officer, several subordinates and Mr. Capone and his hoods got out. The cops walked up to the manager. They grabbed him by his lapels and shook him until his shoes almost fell off.

"What's the idea?" they said. "You making trouble for respectable citizens like Mr. Capone? You trying to start something? Be careful, friend, or we'll close your dump. Now give Mr. Capone and his friends their money back."

It was a cold night long ago.

Veteran Norwegian explorer Dr. Helge Ingstad says a site near L'Anse aux Meadows, a small fishing village at the northern tip of Newfoundland, closely fits the description of Leif Ericson's settlement in Icelandic sagas.

The aeolian harp, a stringed instrument played by the wind, is a long narrow pine sounding box over which catgut of varying thickness is stretched. This principle of natural vibration through wind pressure was known in Biblical times and King David used to hang his harp over his bed so it would sound in the midnight breeze. Registrations to Be Wallet-Size, Says Bureau of MVs

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The State Department of Motor Vehicles says the state will issue wallet-sized motor-vehicle registration certificates for 1964.

The certificates will be the same size — 2½ by 3¼ inches —as the punch-card drivers' licenses first issued two years ago, but they will be pale blue, the department announced Sunday. The license plates are yellow.

Each application for 1964 registrations — whether new or renewal — must be accompanied by the FS-1 form as proof of insurance coverage.

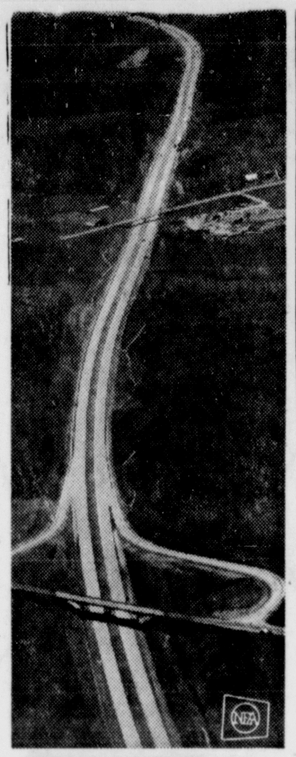

The general sale of registrations and plates begins Dec. 2.

Plates may not be used on vehicles until Jan. 1, except in special classes such as ambulances, taxicabs and buses.

Famous Horses to Drill

NEW YORK (AP)—Vienna's famous performing horses, the Lippizzaner, are to make a tour of seven U.S. cities next spring for five weeks, with a Madison Square Garden stop May 19-24.

The horses, trained in the 225-year-old Riding Academy, execute drills, jumps and complete complex formations without word or whip command from their riders.

NEW ROAD BECKONS—After two years of work, the Western Kentucky Parkway, 127 miles of superhighway running from Elizabethtown to Princeton, is open to traffic. It is a divided, four-lane, limited access road built by a bond issue which will be retired by toll revenues. Shown is the interchange near Caneyville where Kentucky Route 105 leapfrogs the 70 m.p.h. parkway traffic.

Nun, 100, Gets Note From JFK Day After Death

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Sister Catherine Berrissimo had looked forward with joy to her 100th birthday.

But, when the day came the nun had a greeting card, bearing a White House address and the signature of the late President John F. Kennedy. The card arrived Saturday.

The card arrived in the mail after the President had been assassinated in Dallas, Tex.

Sister Catherine "kissed it immediately," according to another nun at the Provincial House of the Roman Catholic Order of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondolet.

Fast Big-Time Debut

NEW YORK (AP) — James Dybas is having a speedy Broadway debut as the result of a chance locker room meeting with Gower Champion.

Dybas arrived in New York from Chicago in September, bent on a career. Five weeks later while changing clothes for a dance class he met Champion, who had dropped in at the session. Champion is directing the upcoming musical, "Hello, Dolly!" So Dybas asked him for an audition.

The result: a featured role in the show.

U.S. Government Wives Now Go Looking for Work

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The life of a diplomat's wife has become something more than cookie-pushing at tea parties.

Most of the 200,000 American women whose husbands work for the U.S. government overseas now take part in volunteer social work among the people of the country to which are assigned. A great many teach anything from American hsitory to zoology in foreign schools and universities. Others volunteer as nurses and aides in hospitals, orphanages and leper colonies. For example:

In Turkey, 90 members of the Turkish-American Women's Cultural Society planted 650 trees at the Middle East Technical University outside Ankara as part of Turkey's big reforestation program.

In Pakistan, the wives of two U.S. embassy officials volunteered to accompany a boat ferrying relief supplies to flood victims. The boat was swamped and the women spent five days marooned on an island before being rescued by helicopter. After a shower and a hot meal, they hopped aboard the next relief boat.

In Kenya, a dozen American wives worked day and night distributing food to famine victims.

In Burma, an American embassy wife trained Burmese and American girls for a month to stage a water ballet, the proceeds of which were donated to charity.

This is a far cry from the life of luxury which some might imagine to be the lot of what one Washington official once called the "Pretty Americans." This was to distinguished them from their husbands, the "Ugly Americans."

The typical American wife overseas was usually pictured as living in a spacious mansion furnished free, with a large staff of servants. She didn't speak a foreign language and she offended the few foreigners she met by a complete misunderstanding of native customs.

She was described as belonging to a tight-knit women's group, and doing nothing except playing bridge and drinking coffee with other American wives.

This vigorous grass-roots diplomacy does not come about by accident. For wives about to go abroad for the first time, the Foreign Service Institute offers an intensive two-week orientation course. Cram sessions are provided in how to be useful overseas.

One side advantage of volunteer work abroad has been to keep the American wife's mind off her personal troubles.

State Department officials feel the natural tendency of women going abroad for the first time is to worry about the future: inadequate hospital and medical facilities, poor schools, lack of sanitation and exposure to strange diseases. Volunteer work at least acts as a therapy to keep her occupied with other things.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP)— S. Miles Bouton, an Associated Press correspondent in Europe for 23 years, died Saturday in Jamestown Hospital. He was 86.

Bouton knew Adolph Hitler and told friends he had been expelled from Germany in 1934 after a heated argument with the German dictator.

In his later years, Bouton wrote a column in Jamestown newspapers and returned to the legal profession, which he had left in 1903 to enter journalism.

He worked for newspapers in Meadville, Pa., Oil City, Pa., and Buffalo before joining The Associated Press in New York City in 1909. He was assigned to Germany in 1911.

Bouton was born near Jamestown. He graduated from Albany Law School in 1899 and practiced law for four years.

Health for All

Much Ado About Something

At least once or twice a month some starry-eyed citizen comes forward and proposes to hold funeral rites for an ancient and malevolent disease. The notion that tuberculosis has been "conquered" and now belongs wholly to the past is such a tempting one that some people are reluctant to let mere medical facts stand in its way.

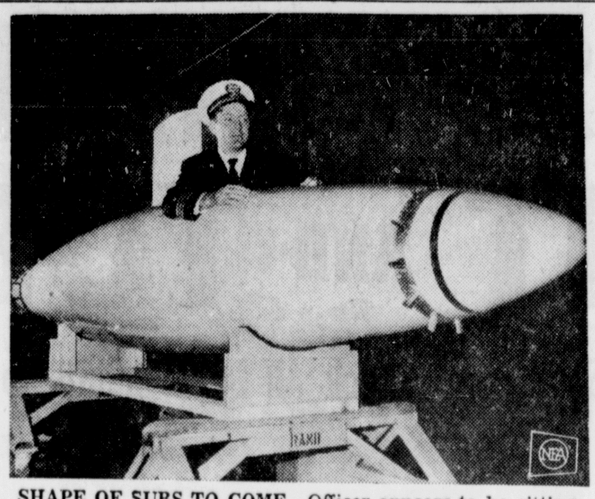

Yet the medical facts are there, and so are the public health statistics: more than 50,000 new cases and nearly 10,000 deaths from TB in the United States every year. Fortunately, there are still plenty of people aware of this not altogether rosy picture, and eager to do something about it. Even a cursory look at some of their activities shows that vigorous action is being taken against this disease.

In Indianapolis, for instance, a group of dedicated people working through their local tuberculosis association recently carried out an intensive campaign of neighborhood chest X-ray examinations, during which more than 5,500 persons availed themselves of this form of TB checkup. In Kentucky an emergency fund was established so that indigent TB patients could get free transportation to and from clinics and hospitals.

In Essex County, Mass., public health nurses were given a five-week education program on problems related to tuberculosis. And down in the Southwest a Resource Manual for Tuberculosis Control in Arizona was published by hard-nosed TB fighters in the redoubtable state. The list of such vigorous anti-TB activities around the country could be expanded almost at will.

All of which invites two conclusions: that there is still far too much TB around, and that enough people still know it and are concerned about it to justify hopes of ultimate, though far from immediate, victory for our side.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., 124 Green Street.

SHAPE OF SUBS TO COME—Officer appears to be sitting inside a one-man torpedo, but he's actually standing beside an 18-foot-long model of a new type of submarine. Being tested at the U.S. Navy's David Taylor Model Basin at Carderock, Md., the vessel is driven by revolutionary "wrap-around" propellers. Resembling paddle wheels, the tandem props encircle the hull fore and aft. The pitch of the blades can be varied to drive the sub sideways, nose up or nose down or allow it to "hover" in one spot like a helicopter. The full-size sub would be 216 feet long.

What Can Secret Service Do to Protect Presidents?

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
Newspaper Enterprise Association

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Kennedy's assassination stirs strong prospects that vastly tighter Secret Service safeguards and new limits on presidential freedom may quickly be in order.

The assassin in Dallas had a clear shot from a high vantage point along the crowded route the late President followed.

The bullet-proof bubble top on the presidential car, flown to the Dallas scene at considerable expense, was down — exposing Kennedy to just as much danger as if he had used an ordinary convertible.

Not only Kennedy but at least two of his predecessors often chafed at Secret Service restrictions, and sometimes overrode their precautions. Reporters, including the writer, have frequently commented on the risks.

Only a few days ago Kennedy refused the customary local police escort on a New York City visit, exposing himself to all the hazards incident to rush-hour traffic delays.

In New York a young girl, camera raised high, raced past all barriers, right up to the window of the presidential limousine, and snapped his picture. Commented a secret service man sharply:

"It could just as well have been an assassin."

Months ago the late President, shaking hands with a well-wisher as he rode in an open car, was pulled off his feet as the man failed to let go.

Again and again veteran White House reporters watched Kennedy on tour as he shook hands at close range with citizens along fenced areas at airports and other points.

Secret Service men, in the judgement of many, would have been powerless to prevent the quick flash of a gun.

Even around the White House, generally thought of as the most impregnable security zone, presidents now and then are subject to unreasonable risk. Kennedy had a habit of mingling with veritable hordes of visitors, any one of whom could have shot him or thrust a knife into him.

Newsmen traveling with presidents in recent years have been stunned at the ease with which would-be assassins now and then have had access to them. Ground routes seldom are fully protected at surface level. High vantage points, unguarded, are common along such routes as Kennedy used in Dallas.

It was not always so. In the tight security of World War II high spots were patrolled with extraordinary caution. When Franklin D. Roosevelt paid a wartime visit to Chicago, I noted that every overpass and high building was lined with guards.

Washington observers forsee now that far stricter regulations will govern such points. They believe also that the Secret Service may be given stiffer authority to control the president's movements — no matter what his personal urge for freedom.

Police escorts suppporting these efforts in official tours and campaigns may have to develop sharper techniques for keeping all people, including the thronging well-wishers, away from the presidential entourage. A president's public appearances may hereafter also be more limited in number.

But veteran newsmen suggest that, even with stricter controls on all sides and more co-operative public behavior, no safeguards are totally foolproof. There will always be the risk that some fanatic will work his way through the protective screen.

Job of Laymen

MONTEAGLE, Tenn. (AP) — Christian evangelism is the duty of the laymen, not the minister, says the Rev. Donald T. James, diocesan missionary of Pittsburg. He told the Tennessee Episcopal Churchmen's conference:

"The idea that evangelism is something for the professionals is ridiculous.

Forty ships from some 20 nations are currently engaged in the International Indian Ocean Expedition. Of major importance will be studies in marine biology, for although this ocean contains the world's most productive fishing grounds, it has an unusually high fish morality rate.

At Times There Is No Right Play

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With certain card combinations there is no right play. You just have to guess. For one such combination there are probably five or six where there is a right play and maybe two or three wrong plays.

South's jump to four hearts was quite sound and if West had opened anything but a trump South should have had very little trouble with his contract, but opponents aren't always co-operative. West did open the deuce of trumps.

South's jump to four hearts was quite sound and if West had opened anything but a trump South should have had very little trouble with his contract, but opponents aren't always co-operative. West did open the deuce of trumps.

South won in dummy and promptly led a spade to his king. West grabbed his ace and led a second trump. He got in again to lead a third trump and South wound up losing three spades and a club, his contract and his partner's esteem.

It seems that South had found a way to go wrong at trick one. He should have won the first trick in his own hand and led a spade toward dummy's jack. Once South made that play the defense would have been helpless. If West rose with the queen there would have been no need to ruff a spade. South would have developed a sure spade trick while if West played low dummy's Jack would have been a winner.

Of course, South pointed out that the lead toward the jack would not have done him any good if East had the queen of spades, but in that case there was no winning play at South's disposal. With the cards placed as they were the lead toward dummy had to win.

Larcenists' Liturgy

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP) — "Good Thief Sunday" was observed in Sing Sing Prison recently. The Rt. Rev. George McKinney, Catholic chaplain, said that more than 400 other correctional institutions also celebrated Mass commemorating St. Dismas, the criminal crucified beside Christ, who asked and received forgiveness.

LBJ Came Back Strong After Severe Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson suffered a severe heart attack in 1955 but bounded back with barely a sign of his brush with death.

His attack came while he was exhausted from his duties as Senate majority leader during the Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In the campaign of 1960 Johnson was asked about his health and replied his physicians thought it was "too good. They say I feel too good and go too much and work too long."

Sings for Couples

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Always a supporting actor and never the star could describe 76-year-old Max Gabel of Fremont.

Gabel has sung in the St. Joseph Catholic Church choir for 54 consecutive years and has been the soloist in hundreds of weddings since he began his church singing in 1910.

Gabel is a bachelor.

What Burnt Offering Is This?

Bill: "Surely — not our Thanksgiving Dinner?"

Annie: "It might be a little overdone."

Bill: "Yes Annie — one might say that!"

Annie: "Anyway — it's not as bad as what happened to the vegetables."

Bill: "What happened to the vegetables? No —on second thought don't tell me. Get your coat, Annie, we're going out to eat."

Annie: "We can't — we have no money!"

Bill: "What about that twenty I gave you?"

Annie: "Oh that!"

Bill: "Yes that!"

Annie: "Well — I used that to open up our '64 Christmas Club at 'Ulster County Savings.' After all — they're the only bank paying a 1% bonus regardless if the club is completed or not. So what could I do — after all —"

Bill: "O.K.—I've got the message. Now — answer slowly; are those 'vegetables' edible?"

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Business seemed getting set to start another big expansion drive—before the shock of President Kennedy's assassination.

Predictions for spending next year for new plant and equipment had ranged from a moderate increase to a possible 10 per cent boost.

Plans may be held up while industrialists assess the new business climate.

But the first tangible sign of quickening business interest already has come in the language of dollars. Manufacturing firms have sharply boosted their appropriations for capital spending—as much as 45 per cent in some key industries. The total set aside is the highest since 1956, when the last big boom was in full swing.

The greater part of the actual dollar outlay would be made in 1964. And if the appropriation trend that started this summer continues, next year could see a duplication of the outpouring of money by corporations which made 1955-56 a notable expansion era, unchallenged since in year-to-year spending increases.

Appropriations can later be cancelled, but mostly they are not. So the $3.2 billion which directors of 602 leading manufacturing firms earmarked in just the last three months for capital spending—if matched by the multitude of firms so far unreported—could mean the 1964 economy can expect a stronger boost that heretofore foreseen.

This year business spent $39 billion on new equipment or on plant expansion. Private surveys of business inventions show expenditures next year may run from 4 to 10 per cent higher. The Department of Commerce's own survey of intentions for 1964 is due out this week. The most optimistic forecast so far has been for a $43 billion expenditure.

But the money-on-the-barrelhead appropriations, as tabulated by the National Industrial Conference Board, shows that in the July-September quarter money set aside by 602 corporations increased 19 per cent over the second quarter of the year. The total of $3.2 billion approaches the $3.3 billion back in the summer of 1955. In the 1955-56 boom spending suddenly swelled by 22 per cent.

Significantly perhaps, appropriations this summer by industries turning out durable goods increased 22 per cent over the April-June quarter. Bellwethers are the primary iron and steel firms, up 45 per cent; motor vehicles and equipment, up 35 per cent; fabricated metal products, up 70 per cent; instruments and photographic equipment firms, up 64 per cent.

Economists have been watching closely the trend of business spending because it is the third leg of the economy. The other two—consumer and government spending—have shown but moderate rises.

A definite increase in business spending might give the economy the pepped up growth rate desired if more jobs are to be created.

Social Security Benefits Same For All Workers

George Habernig, district manager, Social Security Administration Kingston Office stated today that it was eight years ago that the first Farm City Week was declared by a Presidential Proclamation, issued so that "those who work on the farms and those who work in the cities develop greater understanding of their mutual problems and interdependence in a closely knit economy."

Contrary to what one might imagine, the basic idea here is not one which provides the opportunity for city youngsters to see what a cow looks like or for farm children to see the inside of an industrial plant. This exchange of insights, very much needed in today's age of greater sophistication, generally receives careful attention in our country at elementary education levels.

Farm-City Week highlights the similarities — rather than the opposites — found in the two groups and reflected as common goals. Hence, the slogan: "Farm and City — Partners in Progress!"

At the Kingston social security office, Habernig said, we can see almost daily evidence of how close these two groups can be.

The farm and city worker enjoy exactly the same protection under the social security program. Both of their families are protected from loss of income through retirement, disability, or death.

And although most retirement plans are based on age 65, both men and women who have to stop work earlier because of unemployment, ill health, or other reasons, may now receive reduced retirement benefits between age 62 and 65. Previously, only women had this opportunity.

Other changes in the law, which became effective in 1961, reduced the amount of work required for many people to qualify for benefits, and made it possible for many people who continue to work past retirement age to earn more and still collect some social security benefits.

Occasionally, this question is heard: "Are there separate social security programs for farmers and urban people? The answer is no.

Social security benefits are related to a working person's earnings, regardless of whether he is working in a city job or business, or on a farm.

The local social security office, located at 57 Albany Avenue, Kingston, N. Y., has free booklets describing the benefits you earn under old-age, survivors, and disability insurance.

Social security tries to do its best for all workers, whether they live on a farm or in the downtown area of a busy metropolis. Habernig stated don't take his word for it. Call the district office in Kingston when you need social security help. We are at your service. Telephone 338-7308.

Jap Who Nearly Killed Kennedy Sends Sympathy

SHIOKAWA, Japan (AP) — The Japanese destroyer captain whose ship almost killed John F. Kennedy in 1943 said today, "The world has lost an irreplaceable man for there is no other president who worked for peace like he did."

Kohei Hanami, now Shiokawa town chief, heard the news from a friend who ran to his house before dawn.

"It was so sudden," Hanami said. "I have sent my condolences to the Kennedy family through U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer."

Hanami was a 34-year-old lieutenant commander when his destroyer, The Amagiri—"Heavenly Fog"—rammed and sank Kennedy's PT109 on a dark August night off the Solomon Islands. Kennedy was a 26-year-old lieutenant.

New Jesuit University

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Jesuit Fathers of the Wisconsin Province have announced plans to establish a university in Salta, Argentina, a city of 70,000 persons.

The Rev. John J. Foley, head of the province, said he had received a directive from the Rev. John B. Janssen, Jesuit general in Rome, to proceed with plans for the university.

The university is expected to open in late 1965 or early 1966.

Why We Say--

KISSING: Kissing under the mistletoe originated in England and was a very popular custom there. Originally, each time a kiss was given under the mistletoe one of the berries was pulled off. When all of the berries were gone there was to be no more kissing for the rest of the year. Love is associated with mistletoe because Norse legend has it that the goddess of love controlled mistletoe.

Highland B of E Hears Report Given On Language Dept.

At a meeting of the Highland Board of Education, last week, Mario Ruggeri, chairman of the Foreign Language Department gave a detailed report on the Foreign Language program in district.

Mr. Ruggeri stated that the Audio-Lingual Method is enthusiastically subscribed to by the staff. The entire aim of this method is to develop oral proficiency in the language, so as to meet the challenge of the modern world. The Electronic Classroom helps in the achievement of this goal. Mr. Ruggeri pointed out that Highland was one of the first schools in the area to equip a 25 position electronic classroom, or as it is sometimes popularly referred to — a "language lab."

French, Spanish, Latin and Italian are offered as part of the regular High School curriculum this year. A six-year sequence in French and Spanish is being offered for the first time. This is in line with the State Education Department's recommendations that modern languages be taught continuously from grades 7-12. The enrollment in the language classes continues to rise. Mr. Ruggeri disclosed that 45% of the students in grades 7-12 are studying a foreign language.

A two year experimental program in Highland, in the teaching of French to the Elementary school children was successful and a regular program in both French and Spanish for the Elementary grades will be started in a few weeks.

Mr. Ruggeri introduced the foreign language staff: Miss Ann Yanarella, Spanish and Mrs. Elizabeth Sipay, French and Latin.

This was the first of a series of departmental curriculum meetings with the Board of Education to better acquaint them with the program of instruction in the school district. The curricular meetings are under the general direction of Mr. Cranston E. Covell, high school principal.

Of Many Things

DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

MY PRESIDENT IS DEAD!

If you wept as I did when the news of our Chief Executive's death shattered the air Friday afternoon, you must be seeking also some sane anchor upon which to fasten your hopes and dreams for the future.

The flame of fanaticism, held aloft by those with warped, sick minds, provided the backdrop and illuminated the stage upon which our President was slain. And in dark alleyways, behind closed doors more sick minds smiled sardonically and made comments only unthinking human animals would make.

In our hour of despair we call upon a Supreme Being to guide us. We pray that with the death of this vital man, our country will be delivered from the hands of the evil and kept on the road chartered by John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

We are left this morning with our thoughts. Consider mine with me, if you will, as I quote excerpts of works which are so appropriate at this time.

(From Robert Frost's AFTER APPLE-PICKING)

"My long two-pointed ladder's sticking through a tree
Toward heaven still,
And there's a barrel that I didn't fill
Beside it, and there may be two or three Apples I didn't pick upon some bough.
But I am done with apple-picking now . . . . . .
"I feel the ladder sway as the boughs bend.
And I keep hearing from the cellar bin
The rumbling sound
Of load on load of apples coming in.
For I have had too much
Of apple-picking! I am overtired
Of the great harvest I myself desired.
There were ten thousand fruit to touch,
Cherish in hand, lift down, and not let fall. . . ."

(From Kahlil Gibran's THE PROPHET)

"Then the gates of his heart were flung open, and his joy flew far over the sea. And he closed his eyes and prayed in the silence of his soul.

"But as he descended the hill, a sadness came upon him, and he thought in his heart:

"How shall I go in peace and without sorrow? Nay, not without a wound in the spirit shall I leave this city.

"Long were the days of pain I have spent within its walls, and long were the nights of aloneness; and who can depart from his pain and his aloneness without regret?

"Too many fragments of the spirit have I scattered in these streets, and too many are the children of my longing that walk naked among these hills, and I cannot withdraw from them without a burden and an ache.

"It is not a garment I cast off this day, but a skin that I tear with my own hands.

"Nor is it a thought I leave behind me, but a heart made sweet with hunger and with thirst . . . .

"Oftentimes have I heard you speak of one who commits a wrong as though he were not one of you, but a stranger unto you and an intruder upon your world.

"But I say that even as the holy and the righteous cannot rise beyond the highest which is in each one of you.

"So the wicked and the weak cannot fall lower than the lowest which is in you also.

"And as a single leaf turns not yellow but with the silent knowledge of the whole tree.

"SO THE WRONG-DOER CANNOT DO WRONG WITHOUT THE HIDDEN WILL OF YOU ALL. . . . . .

"AND WHEN ONE OF YOU FALLS DOWN HE FALLS FOR THOSE BEHIND HIM, A CAUTION AGAINST THE STUMBLING STONE.

"Ay, and he falls for those ahead of him, who though faster and surer of foot, yet removed not the stumbling stone. . . . .

" . . . . You cannot separate the just from the unjust and the good from the wicked;

"For they stand together before the face of the sun even as the black thread and the white are woven together.

"And when the black thread breaks, the weaver shall look into the whole cloth, and he shall examine the loom also . . . . .

"And the priests and the priestesses said unto him:

"You have walked among us a spirit, and your shadow has been a light upon our faces.

"Much have we loved you. But speechless was our love, and with veils has it been veiled.

"Yet now it cries aloud unto you, and would stand revealed before you.

"And ever has it been that love knows not its own depth until the hour of separation. . . . .

" . . . . He made a signal to the seamen, and straightway they weighed anchor and cast the ship loose from its moorings, and they moved eastward.

"And a cry came from the people as from a single heart, and it rose into the dusk and was carried out over the sea like a great trumpeting."

This is the season that you'll want to look your best . . . and beauty begins here, with a flattering hairstyle!

FASHIONABLE HOLIDAY NIGHT LIFE

Long, elegant sleepwear makes its appearance for the holidays. Present-perfect in any woman's Christmas language is the graceful toga by Fischer (left) in a satin of nylon, dacron and silk, unadorned except for side bows and lace yoke. Nylon tricot shift (center) is brimming with pink carnations. Antron nylon tricot gown and peignoir ensemble (right) is one of the prettiest interpretations of the romantic revival. Lace sleeves of the peignoir are elasticized for permanent pouf. The gown of this Artemis design has bodice of matching lace.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When their newspaper told them the circus had arrived in town, they said, "That will be nice to take the children to. Wednesday would be a good day. Suppose we go on Wednesday."

And so the children began to live in the glorious promise of the circus: of clowns, of bespangled princesses hurling themselves through fiery hoops, of ponies who walked on their hind legs. So intense was their expectation, they lost sleep to imagined disasters like the world blowing up that might interfere.

But it was not a comic disaster that destroyed the Wednesday. The grownups simply forgot what they'd said and went to a garden party.

One of the children did not forget. He was Kenneth Grahame who grew up to write the loved child's book The Wind in the Willows. As a grownup remembering the agony of that childhood disappointment, Grahame writes, "Grownups should be more careful. With children whose little globe is swayed by their most casual word, they should be more careful. My pain was that of a corporeal wound."

His account of his lost circus appears in a new book called A Reader for Parents, prepared by the Child Study Association of America—a collection of childhood memories, of terrors, delights and anguish as recalled by noted writers from Marcel Proust to Ogden Nash.

It is an important book because it stirs to life our own memories of childhood—of joy, sadness and helplessness upon which are based all our understanding of our own children. Without those memories, nothing the "experts" tell us can help us—not really.

I wish that you would get A Reader for Parents because great writers don't write like the "experts." They're not interested in "educating" us. They don't feel obliged to remember they may arouse "guilt reaction" in us by showing us what a broken promise can do to a child.

George Orwell, recalling his unhealing shame of bedwetting, isn't scared of arousing "hostility" in Mrs. Jones by telling her what her shaming treatment of Billy's bedwetting is doing to him. Great writers don't care about their readers' psychology. They care about telling the truth.

Their writing has the passion and power that stirs and excites what we must have to understand children—those memories of promises broken to us, of the inarticulate hurts of our own childhoods.

ADDING NAMES TO CHRISTMAS CARD LIST

Q: Each year I receive more and more Christmas cards. My list is very long as it is and I certainly don't wish to add any more names to it if I can possibly help it. Last year I received quite a few cards from acquaintances to whom I did not send cards. I would like to know if it is necessary to send them cards this year.

A: To send Christmas cards to people simply because they have sent them to you takes away from the spirit of this friendly and charming custom. If these acquaintances mean little or nothing to you, it is certainly not necessary to add their names to your Christmas list.

Christmas Card to Now Married Friend

Q: I have just recently learned that a girl I was quite friendly with at college, has married. We dated frequently but there was nothing really serious between us. I always sent her a Christmas card. I would like to know if it would be proper to send her one this year. I do not know her husband at all.

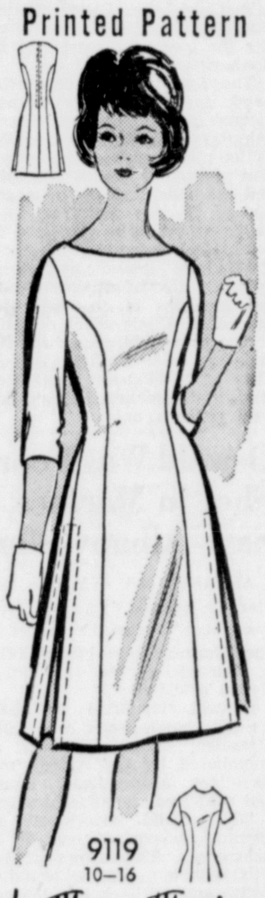

A: It would be prefectly proper to send her a friendly Christmas greeting, but you should address the card to Mr. and Mrs. even though you have never met her husband.

Tragic and Unforgettable

Images of Grief as Cortege Moves Toward White House

By HUGH MULLIGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mournful beat of muffled drums. The slow clip clop of the horse caisson moving down Pennsylvania Avenue. Caroline and John pressing their faces against the back window of the slow rolling limousine. The silent staring masses shuffling past the flag-draped coffin in the great rotunda of the Capitol.

Tragic and unforgettable, these images of grief shimmer in the air today as the nation observes a day of solemn mourning to mark the funeral of its assassinated leader, John F. Kennedy.

Sobs, Open Tears

Down an avenue of stifled sobs and open tears, he had passed Sunday on his final journey from the White House to the Capitol, retracting in reverse the route he traveled on the occasion of his triumphant inaugural less than three years before.

A crowd of 300,000, packed tight to the building line along the famous street, doffed their caps and bowed their heads as the black draped caisson, pulled by six white horses and led by a seventh, rolled in stately procession along the mile-long route.

Just behind pranced the riderless horse, symbol of the slain warrior, with its pair of empty cavalry boots reversed in the stirrups and a saber in a silver scabbard swinging from its saddle. Led by a military man, the dark bay horse was Mrs. Kennedy's Sardar.

Next came a single sailor carrying the personal flag of the President, then Mrs. Kennedy and the children riding in a limousine with President and Mrs. Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennnedy. At one point in the procession, Robert Kennedy lifted John, whose third birthday is today, onto his knee. Mrs. Kennedy clutched Caroline's hand.

Joint Chiefs March

Ahead of the caisson bearing the casket marched an honor guard composed of the joint chiefs of staff and the commandants of the Marine Corps and Coast Guard, clergymen of the three major faiths, and a company of Navy enlisted men, who marched in memory of the young Navy lieutenant and war hero who became their commander in chief.

John F. Kennedy's final ascent up the broad Capitol steps he had once climbed as a young congressman and senator and then as the youngest man ever elected president were marked by the distant booming of a 21-gun salute and the slow strains of a service band playing "Hail to the Chief."

Children With Her

Erect and staring straight ahead, Mrs. Kennedy followed the casket up the steps, leading the children by the hand.

As Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Chief Justice Earl Warren and House Speaker John McCormack intoned the eulogies over the public address system, the crowd began forming itself into a long line, waiting its turn to move into the rotunda and file past the flag-draped coffin.

It was the same spontaneity of affection that had caused thousands to break through the police barriers and join in line behind the funeral cortege as it moved down Pennsylvania Avenue. Nothing like it had ever happened before at a presidential funeral.

All through the night people came to the Capitol. With slow steps and solemn faces they filed past the bier.

Some crossed themselves as they walked by, some dabbed at their eyes with sodden handkerchiefs, most stared with long unwavering gazes, their faces soft, their eyes sad.

No one spoke.

But not anything, not the leg-weary weight nor the numbing cold produced a word of complaint from the endless line of people.

Would they have come, dozens were asked, if they had known how long it would take. Of course, they replied. "He was our President."

Oswald Slaying Will Be Probed

was Texas Gov. John Connally, who is recovering. Later, authorities said, Oswald shot to death a Dallas policeman, J. D. Tippit, who—wittingly or otherwise — interrupted his getaway flight.

The first reaction of Dallas police to Oswald's murder was to mark the assassination case closed, and concentrate on trying to convict Ruby.

Orders Full Probe

But federal officials felt otherwise. President Johnson ordered a full government probe of Oswald's slaying, and the FBI proposed further investigation into the presidential assassination with the hope of eventually giving the American people the full story. Later, Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade listed what he said was a complete summary of the evidence against Oswald.

A wild tumult broke out immediately after the shooting of Oswald in the basement of City Hall. But it was nothing compared to the public uproar over the slaying.

Communist propaganda organs abroad promptly depicted Oswald's death as a coverup to mask sinister rightist forces which they blamed for the President's assassination. Moscow bitterly resented the linking of Oswald with communism.

Americans themselves disagreed over the shooting of the cold-eyed Oswald. Some thought he got what he deserved. Others noted that no matter the enormity of the crime charged against him, he still was entitled by by law to his day in court.

Amid the furore, Ruby was booked on a murder charge and Dist. Atty. Wade announced he would press for his conviction and execution in the electric chair with the same vigor he had proposed to apply toward Oswald.

Oswald was arrested Friday, shortly after Kennedy's assassination and after the slaying of officer Tippit.

Sticks to Story

He insisted from the outset: "I did not kill President Kennedy. I did not kill anyone."

He stuck to this story during 48 hours of intensive questioning in temporary detention quarters in City Hall.

However, Wade said of his case against Oswald: "I have sent men to the electric chair with less evidence. The gun was here, his prints were on the gun, the gun was the gun that killed Kennedy, his palm prints were on the box on which the killer sat, and witnesses put him on the sixth floor at the time of the shooting."

The assassin fired on Kennedy from the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository building, which overlooked the route of the President's motorcade. Oswald was a warehouse employe of the firm.

Finally, police decided they would get no information from Oswald. They announced that he would be transferred by armored car from City Hall to a permanent maximum security cell in the Dallas County jail, about a mile away.

Some 200 newsmen and officials gathered in a basement ramp leading from a City Hall elevator to a driveway outside. Other curious spectators stood in bright sunshine outside to await Oswald's emergence.

Oswald, handcuffed, with detectives on either arm, came out of the elevator and took a few steps in the direction of the armored car parked halfway up the inclined ramp.

Fires Single Shot

At that moment, the stocky, conservatively dressed Ruby lunged forward, stuck his pistol flush against Oswald's side and fired a single shot. The roar of the gun was somewhat muffled by its close proximity to the victim's body.

The bullet tore through Oswald's vital midsection organs, although it missed his heart. He was rushed to Parkland Hospital and into an emergency room only a few feet from the one where President Kennedy died.

Some of the same doctors who worked on the President tried just as desperately to save Oswald's life. Blood was administered. His chest was opened and his heart massaged by hand. But Oswald never regained consciousness and died at 1:07 p.m. The shooting occurred at 11:20 a.m.

Ruby owns a strip tease joint, the Carousel, in downtown Dallas about four blocks from police headquarters, and a dance hall, the Vegas, further out.

His real last name was Rubinstein. Early in life he was nicknamed "Sparky" because of his volatile nature.

Ruby drove up to City Hall shortly before the Oswald shooting. His background had given him an extensive acquaintance among Dallas policemen and there seemed no apparent reason why his presence amidst officials should be restricted.

Afterwards, Dallas Police Chief Jess Curry explained why Oswald was being transferred in broad daylight.

He told newsmen: "If I hadn't promised you people I would not take Oswald until this morning, we would have taken him during the night. I told you I wouldn't back down on my pledge."

Had Strange Career

Ruby's single shot ended a strange career for Oswald.

After serving without distinction in the U.S. Marines and receiving a discharge as an undesirable, the New Orleans-born, Communist-converted Oswald went to Moscow in 1959 and announced his intention to renounce his American citizenship and live in the Soviet Union.

Later, Oswald changed his mind. Because he never actually had received Soviet citizenship, he was allowed to return to this country in 1962. With him he brought a petite Russian blonde, whom he had married there and who bore him two children, one 4 years old and the other 22 months old.

All his life, Oswald was known as a loner. It was alone in a crowd that he fell prone on the basement floor of City Hall while pandemonium broke loose above his motionless body.

Car-Truck Crash On Rt. 28 Results In Injury to 3

Three men were injured at 5:30 p. m. Saturday in a headon collision which occurred on Route 28 about a mile west of Route 209, Town of Ulster, according to Kingston State Police.

Troopers Robert Mackey and William Ruth reported George B. Leonard Jr., 37, of Clover Street, West Hurley, was driving a dump truck loaded with shale west on Route 28 and Jacob Simicavic, 43, of 1175 Grand Concourse, the Bronx, was traveling east when his car skidded and the crash occurred.

Gilbert Gray of Doctor's Ambulance,, reported Simicavic was ejected from the car. He was taken to Kingston Hospital suffering severe head injuries. Passengers in his car were John Coffrey, 23, of Springville Road, Hampton Bay, L. I., who suffered severe head injuries, and James Henley, 21, of 470 Concord Avenue, the Bronx, who received severe injuries of the left leg. The injured were all removed to the Kingston Hospital by Doctor's ambulance.

Two Blows . . .

ed the case against Dallas: "All America knows that the most reactionary, the wildest elements...have built their nests precisely in Texas."

But it struck an exposed nerve.

Before the President's visit, Dallas was agonizing . conscious that only a month ago Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was struck with a far right placard and spat upon—and that the new president, Lyndon B. Johnson, and his wife had been spat upon and jostled here in the 1960 election campaign.

For weeks, news stories quoting city leaders, editorials and letters to the editor had urged the people to behave, to lay aside bitterness and to welcome President Kennedy as befitted his office. The far right complied.

There's Much Sorrow

Then..!

"This is a black mark Dallas will never live down," said one resident despairingly. That was the day the President died.

Sunday night...

"This thing is going to tear this town apart," a young woman said.

On a small grassy slope in a small park Sunday were two wreaths. A card on one said: "In memory of our beloved President, John F. Kennedy. From the bereaved citizens of Dallas." The other said simply: "We are all so sorry."

To Resume Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Most regular television and radio programming will be resumed Tuesday morning. Since Friday, all networks have had special programming — devoted mainly to the coverage of President Kennedy's assassination and related events.

Five Die in Train Mishap in Germany

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) —Five persons were killed today when a slow passenger train rammmed an express train near Hannover, the German Federal Railways announced.

Seven persons were seriously injured and 20 others suffered lesser injuries. Offficials said the slow train went through a stop sign.

Mental Health Group Announces Holiday Closing

The office of the Association for Mental Health, at 27 East O'Reilly Street, Kingston, will be closed all day Friday for the Thanksgiving weekend.

The following week, the office will resume its normal hours, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday from 9 a. m. until noon, and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Some people still confuse the office of the Association, with the Mental Health Center, at 400 Broadway, Kingston. The latter is an out-patient clinic, maintained by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, and is under the medical direction of Dr. Katharina Stuber.

The Association, on the other hand, is a voluntary citizen's movement, financed entirely by voluntary contributions, and has as its main purpose the promotion of mental health education and the understanding of mental illness. It also seeks to focus public attention on the need for psychiatric treatment facilities of all kinds. However, it does not maintain any treatment or clinical facilities of its own. The After-Care Clinic which operates at the same address as the Association twice monthly, is a facility of Middletown State Hospital, for discharged state hospital patients only.

Oswald Was Poor Shot in Marines, Says Albany Man

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Lee Harvey Oswald was a "very poor shot" when he served in the Marine Corps in the 1950s, a man who served with him in Japan said today.

Oswald, identified by police as the sharp-shooter who killed President Kennnedy, was remembered by the Albany man as "not academically smart, but with real horse sense."

"He would concentrate for months to perfect one of his schemes. . .The fellows tried to mix with him, but he would be polite and go back into his own dream world. . .

"One day in the barracks he pulled out a pistol and shot himself in the arm. We were due to go to the Philippines. He was allowed out of the hospital to join the exercise. . .He lived more within himself.

"He was a very poor shot. He never bothered much about the rifle range. . ."

The Albany man preferred to remain anonymous.

Three Are Hurt In Traffic Here Last Saturday

Three persons were injured in two separate traffic accidents Saturday in the city. Two of the drivers involved were issued summonses for traffic violations.

James Johnson, 22, of 14 Spring Street, Monticello, one of the drivers, suffered a right arm injury in a three-car collision about 9:35 p. m. at West Union and Post Streets. A passenger in his car, Wilmer Korn, 20, of 37 High Street, Monticello, suffered a head injury. Both men were taken by Fatum's ambulance to Kingston Hospital where they were treated and released.

Patrolman Louis Keator and George Barringer issued Johnson a summons for passing a stop sign. Johnson is scheduled to answer the charge Saturday in City Court.

Charge He Passed Sign

The officers said Johnson allegedly passed a stop sign at the intersection and struck a car driven by John Rowens, 32, of 78 Abeel Street, which in turn struck a parked car owned by Arlene Bouck, of 12 West Union Street.

Raymond J. Yerry, 37, of 212 Hasbrouck Avenue, was issued a summons for failure to keep right after his car left East Chester Street about 5:35 p. m. Saturday and struck a house.

Patrolmen Barringer and Keator said Yerry was driving south on East Chester Street when his vehicle swerved to the left side of the road, struck and knocked over a fire hydrant and traveled about 75 feet where it struck the home of Michael Melnik near 409 East Chester.

Yerry said he would see his own doctor for treatment of his injuries. He was granted an adjournment today in City Court to obtain counsel on the traffic charge.

Checking on Hit, Run

Police also are investigating a hit and run accident which reportedly occured between 9 and 10 p. m. Saturday at Thomas Street near Broadway.

Robert Dittus, of 42 Clifton Avenue, said someone struck the left front door and panel of his 1962 model car while it was parked at that location. He reported the incident to police at 10:15 p. m.

Two other motorists reportedly escaped injury when their cars collided about 2:20 a. m. today at Cornell Street and Bruyn Avenue.

Patrolmen Raymond Wells and Curtis VanDemark identified the drivers as Jean A. Lee, 20, of Box 242, Stone Ridge, and Albert G. Boyle, 19, of 322 Albany Avenue.

Mrs. Khrushchev Pays Respects to Kennedy, Tearful

MOSCOW (AP) — Mrs. Nina Khrushchev, wife of the Soviet premier, paid her respects to President Kennedy at the American ambassador's residence today and emerged with tears in her eyes.

Mrs. Khrushchev went to Spaso House at the head of a delegation of which she is chairman. She signed the memorial book on the same page as her husband, then went inside with Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and Mrs. Kohler for 15 minutes of reminiscences about her meetings with the President in Vienna.

She came out arm in arm with Mrs. Kohler, tears in her eyes, and said goodby.

Put Cash to Work Where It Can Grow

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am 51 years old, have a $15,000 salary and a good retirement program. I have about $40,000 in Series E Bonds which I have held from 10 to 19 years, $35,000 in Building & Loan that pays 4¼ per cent; also a moderate bank account. I have never owned stocks. Should I switch some of the Building & Loan and savings bonds into stocks? If so, what stocks should I buy?" — J. E.

A) You have held your Series bonds so long that the interest accurals must be quite heavy, and in your bracket I would hesitate to redeem them without consulting a tax expert. As you know, the accurals are fully subject to Federal income tax.

Since your funds are all in fixed income investments which cannot grow, I believe that you should protect yourself against inflation by putting about $30,000 of your savings account into good stocks, which can increase in value to offset any dollar devaluation. I suggest Corn Products; Sears, Roebuck; Procter & Gamble; Bristol-Myers; Merck & Company and Texas Utilities.

Q) "On an average income, my husband and I have managed to accumulate $2,000. How can we best invest this amount for our children's advantage In addition we have a savings account and 9 shares of Westinghouse — and that's all our resources." — M. W.

A) Your husband and you have done extremely well.

I advise you to invest your $2,000 in two of the strongest growth situations obtainable. Electric Power and Consolidated Foods, both rapidly expanding situations.

I would sell Westinghouse which, in my opinion, is simply a 'name" stock which has shown no real growth in a decade. You might use the proceeds to buy more of the two stocks mentioed above.

300 New Paltz Students Hear Panel on Kennedy Death

A group of more than 300 students at the State University College in New Paltz packed the main lounge of the College Union Building last night to hear six professors in a panel discussion on the topic "The Implications of President Kennedy's Death."

On Friday night, more than 1,000 students conducted a quiet, solemn march through the streets of New Paltz.

The panel discussion was sponsored by the Student International Relations Association. On the panel of professors were Dr. Channing Liem, visiting professor of political science, who was Korean ambassador to the United Nations in 1960 and 1961; Dr. Willis Raff, professor of political science; Dr. Victor E. King, visiting associate professor of the African Nations Studies, who is from Sierre Leone; Daniel Fine, instructor on Africa; Ahmad Hassar, assistant professor of political science, who was born in Lebanon; and Robert Carson, assistant professor of economics.

No Radical Departure

Dr. Liem spoke mainly of President Lyndon Johnson, stating that the new President is enthusiastically interested in affairs of the world. He predicted that President Johnson "will not make a radical departure from the course set by the late President Kennedy."

Dr. Raff assured the students that "Lyndon Johnson represents something different, but we have nothing to worry about." He expressed the opinion that "Johnson's future chances are wonderful."

Dr. King told the group that "the death of President Kennedy poses a challenge to the American people." He told the students to "take up that challenge now to remove the seeds of prejudice in the United States."

Light for All World

He described President Kennedy's brief career as "a meteor which shot across the sky but lit the entire world." He said that Africa had taken President Kennedy to heart.

Mr. Fine pointed out that under President Kennedy the Negro for the first time had a direct sympathetic line to the White House. He emphasized, however, that historically, the Negro has never faired well in this counrty after an assassination, and he posed the question, "how will it go this time?" He called President Kennedy's staff a "Civil Rights Staff."

Mr. Hassar described President Kennedy as "one of the greatest Presidents of America, a great man who appealed to the common man." He emphasized that the hope of the Middle-east had been focused on him.

Mr. Carson said he did not know of any major economic changes at this time.

The panel discussion was moderated by John VonderHeide, assistant professor of European History.

Fined for Failure To Yield Half of Road

The driver of one car was arrested for failure to yield one half of the roadway in a two-car accident Saturday at 6:15 p. m. at Albany Avenue Extension and Lawrenceville Street. John W. Vogt, 55, driving a car owned by Dorothy M. Vogt of Lawrenceville Street, headed north on Albany Avenue turned left to Lawrenceville Street. His car was damaged about the left when it collided with a car operated by John Whittaker, 66, of Stahlman Place, town of Ulster, which was headed east on Lawrenceville Street. Whittaker had stopped at a sign, but to the left of the center. Taken before Justice of the Peace Robert Stedge he entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10. Deputy Sheriffs Calvert Harvey and Silas Countryman investigated.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

ATTENTION: SPECULATORS

In this jittery social, economic, and military world, scores of well-known common stocks are circumscribed by emotional powers.

Two years ago, the international oils were under pressure. Standard Oil of New Jersey—the biggest petroleum enterprise in the world—sold for $40 a share. Chrysler also sold for $40 a share, with risk riding high, in the opinions of thousands of investors.

The steel stocks were also under a cloud, and U.S. Steel—the biggest enterprise in its field in the world—went from $108 a share with a $3 annual dividend down to $38 with a $2 payment.

Chrysler, split up twice since its low price, has gone from $40 a share to the equivalent of nearly $200. Jersey Oil is again a popular equity; this stock too has advanced considerably in price. And the steel stocks are acting much better, with one or two exceptions.

Bold speculators can and should take advantage of such emotional outbursts. Those investors who are worth from $50,000 upwards, and who are tax-conscious, might well take 20 per cent of their capital and buy under-priced values when the public doesn't want them.

United Fruit is such a stock. Early in 1963 the company announced that $10,000,000 were being set aside to buy in its own stock. Some 426,000 shares of United Fruit were thus bought. The stock advanced from around $21 a share to $30, and now it is back to $21 again. Oh, the company has problems, but they are solvable.

Douglas Aircraft has not recovered in the public's mind from the losses of 1959 and 1960. In those years per-share losses totaled $12.20. Dividends were omitted and the stock tumbled. Earnings' recovery in 1962 and 1963 was substantial. Stock dividends were declared in both year. But the public is still emotionally disturbed by the past losses.

Allis-Chalmers is having a rugged time. The stock has a book value of $34 a share but the public is reluctant to buy it at $16 or $17. Percentagewise, is it another Chrysler? Probably.

Bethlehem Steel can't get off the ground. The political blow aimed at the steel industry has had a solar-plexus effect on the company. Yet for patient speculators this stock, selling to yield almost 5 per cent at $31 a share, is a good purchase.

A fifth speculative equity, paying $2.50 a share and earning the dividend easily, is Anaconda Copper — the world's second largest copper producer. It is selling at about $48 a shore.

Into the indefinite future the world is going to be in a turmoil. And those investors with steady nerves and strong hearts can capitalize on such conditions.

Personally, I use 30 per cent of my capital to buy such underpriced equities. I manage them aggressively. Seldom do I take short-term profits.

And when I buy speculative equity and it declines in price, I usually buy more shares to average down. I am always careful about what I buy for capital gains.

Body Washed Ashore

EAGLE, Ont. (AP)—The body of a middle-aged man, believed to be one of three occupants of a light aircraft presumed to have crashed into Lake Erie nearly three weeks ago, was washed ashore today.

The body was found on the shore by Herbert Leith, south of Eagle, 30 miles west of St. Thomas.

A Piper Comanche plane carrying three Detroit men between Detroit and Buffalo was reported missing Nov. 2. The missing men are William S. Mouser, 51, William M. Flashenberg, 52, and William A. Nazzaro, 31.

Mouser was pilot of the plane, which was en route to Buffalo where the men were to take part in a bridge tournament.

Comedy for Ewell

NEW YORK (AP) — What happens when a scientist tries to become a corporate organization man is the theme of "Ask Me No Questions," a comedy in which To. Ewell has agreed to return to Broadway.

The play is by Ira Wallach, who estimates the script went through 10 versions during a four-year creative process. With Ewell in the show, due here Jan. 29, are to be Ruth White, Ruth McDevitt and Murray Hamilton.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Going back to the Kingston Weekly Freeman of Aug. 22, 1901 I see Patrick Brennan was chased up a tree by a bear while walking in a wooded lot. He was without firearms and called for help. Charles Van Etten and Peter Crispell came with hammers and digging bar. The bear weighed about 100 pounds. The story concludes with "The skin will be mounted and presented to Brennan."

Another item in this Aug. 22, 1901 Kingston Freeman, "Deputy County Treasurer Case discovered he has a Persian prayer rug in his office which has a deep religious significance to the Oriental mind. Ex-sheriff Black is regarded as an authority on Persian history and religion." Pehaps a later issue will give the end of the story. Prayer rugs are still of interest today. When it comes to rugs, Charles Grant Ellis of Kingston wrote a very excellent illustrated book called "Antique Rugs From the East." He is now working on "So called Dragon Rugs of the Caucasus." He knows much about prayer rugs. This book was printed in Germany, and Charles Grant Ellis did the fourth, revised (1958) edition which he translated as compiled by Wilhelm von Bode and Ernst Kuhnel. It can be had at our Kingston City Library. I think it would be interesting to learn, the many books written by authors living in Kingston and Ulster County.

I see now the constant reminder that the burning of leaves is harmful to the health of people doing the burning and those living in the section. Leaves make a fine protective covering for shrubs and flower beds. They nourish, and moisten the ground and protect against frost. Instead of burning them, they should be used as nature intended. Nature knows best.

There is an item in the Sept. 26, 1901 Kingston Weekly Freeman, from Phillipsburg, N. J. Two boys, age 10 and 14, were ill for about one week and died at their home. The attending physician gave the cause of death as blood poisoning resulted from the smoking of corn silk and dried grape vine leaves. The physician said their mouth and throat were so inflamed, medical aid was of no avail. Such an incident perhaps was never repeated but still the life of those two youngsters was over, because of what others may consider harmless, smoking of corn silk, and dried grape vine leaves. Burning of various dried leaves may seem harmless, yet standing over the flames may be exceedingly harmful when it turns into smoke or smogs the neighborhood, so it is safer for all concerned not to do it at all.

Men's styles have been changing drastically in the last few years. Going back to 1906 in Kingston, Sam Bernstein and Co. had a half page illustrated advertisement telling about the new style in men's suits with two slits in the back. They were "cut quite long with two slits in the back and belt loops on pants. Also padded shoulders and three button front, some were cut single breasted with two slits in back and cuffs on sleeves." The $18 suits came in fancy plaid worsted, the coat being cut with three buttons, single breasted with two slits in back and cuffs on sleeves.

Another item in an Aug. 22, 1901 issue tells about poultice of tobacco, promptly applied for dangerous looking bug bites which made an arm stiff and sore, would relieve the pain overnight.

BOATING IN SQUARE — Saint Mark's Square, with the Basilica in background, is completely flooded after heavy rainstorms and strong winds lashed the Venice area. Boats were used in the square and street passage was aided by temporary wooden bridges.

Council in Favor Of Modern Media To Spread Gospel

By BENNET M. BOLTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council today gave final approval to a decree calling on the Roman Catholic Church to use modern communication media to help spread the message of the Church.

The council also suggested the establishment in Rome of an international Catholic information center.

The prelates adopted by a 1,598-503 vote a schema (topic) on mass communications —the press, radio, television and the arts.

The schema, approved in sections earlier this session, requires only the promulgation of Pope Paul VI to become a formal decree in the Roman Catholic Church.

It was the second schema to be completed by the council. The other brings wide reforms to the Catholic liturgy. Both are expected to be promulgated by Pope Paul VI before the council recesses Dec. 4.

Council press spokesmen have paraphrased the press document as saying:

". . .The free flow of information must be protected by civil authorities with all means available. The correct use of this right (of free information) demands that the information in question always be true and correct."

The appeal for freedom of information is made in general terms and could apply to censorship restrictions in both Commmunist countries and non-Communist countries such as Spain and Portugal.

Another part of the schema calls on Roman Catholics to set up national press and communications centers in every country to promote better use of communications to spread the Church's message.

Early Funeral Crowd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Long before dawn today, the first sprinkling of the crowd began to gather along the streets for the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Some huddled in blankets against the 35-degree chill, and found positions near St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral for the requiem mass still many hours away.

Returns Unexpectedly at Night

Mrs. Kennedy Reluctant To Leave Husband's Bier

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy went back for a second look at her husband's casket in the Capitol rotunda and pleading, "Let me walk, let me walk," mingled with crowds that mourned the slain President.

The 34-year-old widow of President Kennedy seemed reluctant to leave his casket.

With her two children, she had come in a funeral procession Sunday to leave the President's body to lie in state in the Capitol for public viewing by many thousands.

Mrs. Kennedy, with her daughter Caroline beside her, had knelt and kissed the casket before she departed about 2:30 p.m.

Unexpectedly, she was back about 9 o'clock Sunday night, on the arm of her brother-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, as long lines of people waited to pass the President's bier.

Always Near

She walked slowly by the ropes keeping the public from the casket area and once again knelt and kissed the coffin.

Until she had left it at the Capitol, Mrs. Kennedy had remained near her husband's body since he was slain in Dallas Friday afternoon.

On her sudden nighttime reappearance, the slow - moving crowd came to a halt. When Mrs. Kennedy rose, she turned her tear-stained face and looked for a long moment at the faces of those who came to pay their respects to her late husband.

As she and the attorney general left, Mrs. Kennedy seemed to look searchingly at the faces of the incoming throng.

Desires to Walk

"'Let me walk, let me walk," she said as they descended the Capitol steps. At first Mrs. Kennedy went unrecognized, but sooon she was discovered and some followed after her party of police and Secret Service agents.

It was learned Mrs. Kennedy personally had decided on many of the details of the presidential funeral, including the decision that the mourners would walk some eight blocks from the White House as was done at the funeral of Abraham Lincoln, the president slain almost 100 years ago.

Protocol and research experts had brought to the White House plans of the funerals of George Washington, Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Rooosevelt for guidance.

Favors Marching

Mrs. Kennnedy, who shared her husband's interest in history, agreed on the marching procession in the streets, a theme dating back to Washington's funeral.

Kennedy's Irish cousin, Miss Mary Ann Ryan in Dublin, was sent a special Kennedy family invitation, relayed by the U. S. Embassy, to come to the funeral. She had entertained Kennedy on his visit to his ancestral home at Dunganstown, Ireland, last summer.

All of the members of the President's family, except his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, 75, had gathered in Washington for the funeral.

Mother at Casket

His mother, Rose Kennedy, 73, flew from Hyannis Port, Mass., Sunday night and with other members of the family also went to kneel at the casket in the Capitol rotunda.

Joining Mrs. Kennnedy at the White House were the attorney general, his wife, Ethel, the President's sisters, Eunice Shriver, Patricia Lawford and Jean Smith, with their husbands, the President's youngest brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and his wife, Joan. Also Mrs. Kennedy's younger sister, Lee Radziwill, who flew here from London.

Mrs. Kennnedy's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, who live in nearby Georgetown, were to be at the funeral.

While the President's funeral was under way here, a special private Mass was scheduled at the Cape Cod home of Kennedy's father, who is still suffering from effects of a stroke suffered in December 1961 and could not make the trip here.

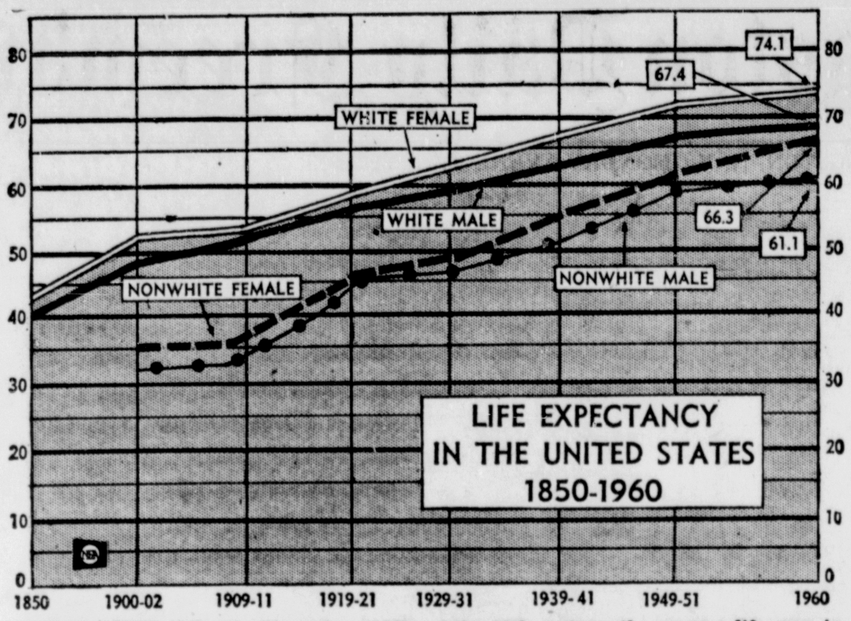

SA Lieutenants Wed

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—One of the Salvation Army's "Bubble Gum Girls" has married a great-grandson of one of the "Seven Hallelujah Lassies" who brought the movement to the United States from England in 1880.

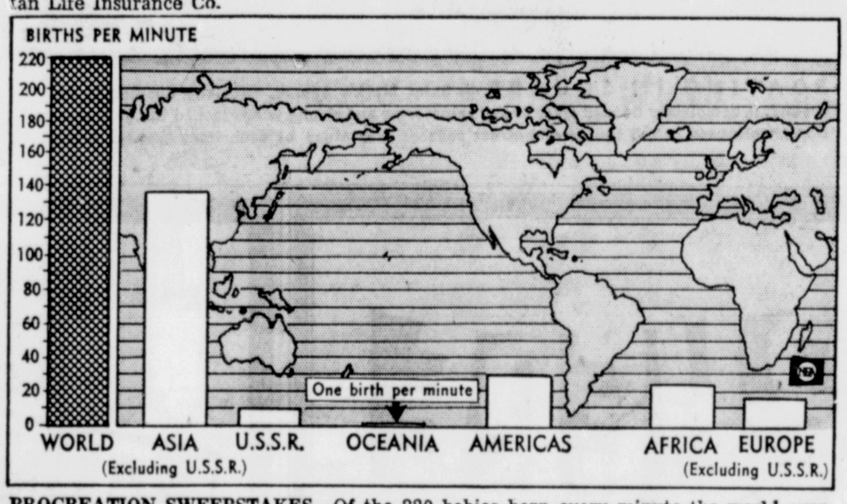

Both the new Mrs. Barry W. H. Wilson and her husband are Salvation Army lieutenants, as is her sister, Esther Jacobs, who is stationed in Akron, Ohio. The Lts. Wilson are living and working in Van Wert.

Mrs. Wilson says she and her sister got the bubble gum nickname because they began Sunday School in response to invitations wrapped around bubble gum and distributed by the Salvation Army to grade school youngsters.

James Wilson, America's first globe maker, lived to be 92. He spent his last years building a panetarium which, by cranking, showed the earth revolving around the sun.

THREE SCORE AND 14—Since the middle of the 19th century, the average life span in the United States has increased about 29 years. According to conditions in 1850, the expectation of life at birth for whites was about 41 years (data is incomplete for nonwhites). By 1962, the figure had risen to about 70 years. Newschart above shows the record up to 1960, the last year for which data is available. One noticeable fact is the increasing difference in longevity between the sexes. In 1950, white women could expect to live an average of 2½ years longer than men; in 1960, this had increased to more than 6½ years. Fastest improvement has been made among the nonwhite population, though life expectancy is still below that of the white population. Data from Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

PROCREATION SWEEPSTAKES—Of the 220 babies born every minute the world over, more than half—140 a minute—arrive in Asia, mostly in India and China. The population of the world was estimated at 3,180,000,000 in mid-1963. This was an increase of 500 million since 1950 and equal to the entire population of the world in 1650. If growth rates remain unchanged, there will be 18 billion people on the earth within a century. Data from Population Reference Bureau.

Complete Rosendale Fiscal Examination

ALBANY—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced the completion of the examination of fiscal affairs of a number of towns, villages, including Rosendale — schools and other special districts throughout the state.

Copies of the examination reports have been sent to the clerk and other officials of the units of government examined. Since the reports are a part of the public record, they are available for review by interested citizens.

A copy of each of the reports is also on file at the Department of Audit and Control in Albany and is available for public inspection.

Veterans Pension Recipients Must File 1963 Report

This year's income reporting time begins December 1 for 11,000 disabled veterans and the dependents of some 8,000 deceased veterans receiving VA pension in the Albany area, Frank J. Kilcullen Jr., manager of the Albany Regional Office of the Veterans Administration explained today.

Along with their November 30 checks, all Veterans Administration pension recipients will receive enclosed tabulating cards. They carry the words 'please do not mutilate." It is important that these instructions be followed.

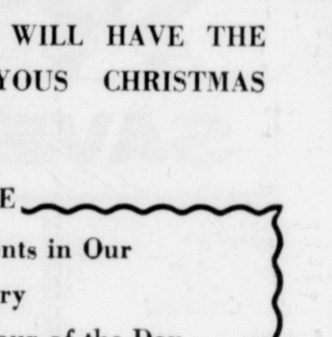

On these cards beneficiaries must report all income received during 1963 and that expected in 1964. Income means everything, including Social Security payments except, of course, the Veterans Administration pension payments themselves.

Law requires the Veterans Administration to use the reports to determine continued eligibility of pensioners and in some cases to make adjustments on the basis of increased or decreased outside income.

Prompt and accurate reporting can prevent any hold-up in pension payments.

Assistance in filling out the income questionnaires may be obtained at the Contact Division of the Albany Regional Office of the Veterans Administration located at 12-16 Russell Road, Westgate Building, Albany.

Solemn Curtain

tive Order of Elks and our families, I am offering you and your family our profound sympathy and our prayers that God's solace and strength be with you."

In Utica, Harry Ostrov of Rockeville Centre, grand master of the New York State Masonic Lodge, paid tribute to President Kennedy.

Ostrov, speaking at the dedication of a $1-million addition to the Masonic Home and Hospital, said of the Kennedy family:

"May their grief be lightened by the knowledge that it is shared by so many."

Friday evening and Saturday morning, at the Synagogue of Congregation Ahavath Israel, prayers for the late President John Fitzgerald Kennedy were held as part of the Sabbath services.

Led the Prayers

Rabbi Jacob Rubenstein led the assembled in prayers for the repose of the soul of the late President, and for the welfare of his surviving family. In addition, prayers for the welfare of the country and the new President were offered.

Rabbi Rubenstein stated, "We pray for the family of our late President, for his parents, and especially for his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy. Grant her the strength, courage, and wisdom, that she may be both mother and father to her children. Enable her to rear them, so as to reflect honor upon him, who was so dear to them in life. Protect his father and mother and grant that through their tears, they may always feel Thy nearness. Comfort them, as Thou alone canst comfort."

In an extemporaneous sermonette delivered on Friday night, Rabbi Rubenstein spoke about the rule of law vs. the rule of violence.

"In our religious tradition," Rabbi Rubenstein said, "the distinguishing feature is the Torah —God's revealed law to all mankind. Ever since we received our Torah that fateful day at Mt. Sinai, we have been a people ruled by law, not by men. We have debated the merits and demerits of ideas. We have not vilified and defamed the personalities who advocated these ideas. We have said, 'Hate wickedness and love the wicked, for wickedness will be destroyed, and through love, the wicked can be brought to repentance and saintliness.'

Rose to Greatness

"Our nation, the United States of America, rose to greatness because, founded on this tradition, we have been a nation ruled by law, not by tyrants.

"Ideas found their ultimate acceptance or rejection in the free and untrammeled market place of public debate, not at the end of a whip or gun. As a result, governments have come and governments have gone by the free choice of the American people, not because of the junta's putch, the secret conspiracy, or the assassin's bullet.

"Unfortunately, in the heat of American political debate, some of us forget this facet of our religious heritage, and we assail men, not the ideas which they advocate. This hatred of men often leads the sick within our society to acts of violence. Today (Friday, Nov. 22), this neglect of our religious beliefs, and the causeless hatred which it has engendered, has claimed the life of a great and good man. It has scarred his family with tragedy, and it has left the nation leaderless, uncertain, and grief-stricken.

"As we pray for our late President and his family, and for the welfare of our country and its new President, teach us, O Lord, that we will prosper only as we return to the religious ideals which made our country great. May we come to debate only ideas and ideals, may hatred and violence cease, and may today's tragedy become what it should always have been: A relic of a barbarous past."

Stores Open Tonight

Following a meeting this morning of the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association it was announced by George Svirsky, president, that most of the stores in the uptown business area would open at 2 p. m. today and remain open until 9 o'clock tonight.

"In the confusion of the time," President Svirsky said, "it had been reported that stores would remain closed this evening and remain open on Tuesday night. This is not the case," Svirsky said.

Stores were closed this morning but most of the business places, it was reported, would open at 2 p. m. and observe the usual Monday night 9 o'oclock closing hour. Regular store hours will be observed on Tuesday.

Former City Judge Aaron E. Klein, chairman of Ulster County Democratic Committee left Sunday for Washington, D. C. to view the body of the late President John F. Kennedy at the rotunda of the Capitol and planned to attend the funeral today.

Meetings Postponed

B'nai B'rith Men schedueld to meet tonight have postponed their meeting to next Monday at 8 p. m.

The drill of 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Armory National Guard scheduled for tonight has been postponed to Tuesday night.

Kingston League of Women Voters have postponed a meeting scheduled for tonight to Tuesday 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Stanley Plasker, 8 Park Street, Rolling Meadows. The Tueday afternoon meeting also scheduled will be held.

Local Boatman's Body Recovered

Word has been received of the recovery and identification of the body of James E. Pillsworth, local boatman who went down on the ill-fated 83-foot tug, Flushing at Hell Gate early in September.

The 37-year-old Pillsworth of 179 Hasbrouck Avenue was lost with three other crew members when the tug sunk in turbulent waters of the East River.

According to reports available at noon today identification had been made. Arrangements and details will be announced.

Connally Stronger

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas Gov. John Connally, seriously wounded at the time President Kennedy was assassinated, has regained enough strength to walk around his hospital room.

Mrs. Connally, still obviously upset by the death of the President and the wounding of her husband Friday, said the governor is now apparently out of danger.

Planning, Zoning Panel Discussion Set Tuesday Night

The panel discussion on planning and zoning to be sponsored by the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley Tuesday night at Arlington, has apparently created a great deal of interest among area municipal and planning leaders.

Nearly 50 supervisors or mayors and chairmen of planning boards from municipalities where area growth is taking place have signified their intention of attending the meeting.

The meeting will be held at Nick Beni's Anchor Inn, at 6:30 p. m. The panel discussion, which will follow, will center on zoning and planning abuses which the builders contend restricts home building in New York State.

Members of the panel will be Raymond M. Urquhart, village administrator of Bronxville; H. Eugene Ellish, president of the New York State Home Builders Association; Henry H. J. Heissenbuttel, planning director of Dutchess County; Carl J. Mays, planning director of Orange County; and Albert E. Cooper, a Monroe builder and a director of the Hudson Valley Home Builders Association.

Urquhart is the author of a recent report entitled "A Study of Local Government Restrictions Affecting Home Building in New York State." The report drew considerable attention in the home building industry and in builders' trade journals. The builders hope the report will strengthen their case for planning and zoning reform.

A list of Ulster County municipal, planning and industrial leaders who have signified their intention of attending Tuesday's meeting includes:

Fourth American President Slain

The first was Abraham Lincoln, shot in the head April 15, 1865, by Southern sympathizer John Wilkes Booth in Ford's Theater here.

James A. Garfield was gunned down July 2, 1881, by Charles J. Guiteau in the capital railroad station as he was starting out on a vacation. Garfield lingered on for more than two months before dying Sept. 19.

William McKinley died Sept. 14, 1901, shot by an anarchist eight days earlier at the Pan American Exposition in Buffalo, N.Y.

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A bunch of the boys were whooping it up on Warner Brothers New York Street one night.

The boys were those indefatigable cutups, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr., and they were joined by an unlikely addition to their team, Bing Crosby. They were gathered together on a chilly Burbank night to film the finale "Robin and the Seven Hoods."

"Who's in charge here?" I asked amid the bedlam of a street scene littered with wisecracks, extras and false snow.

"I am," responded Sinatra, who was dressed up as Santa Claus but don't let that fool you. As producer of the film and top lieutenant to commander - in chief J. L. Warner, he was keeping an eye on the till.

"We're one and a half days and $60,000 ahead of schedule," Sinatra reported of the film, which has only been shooting a fortnight. "We don't fool around here."

They don't when the cameras are rolling, which is often, but between scenes there is time for frivolity. The scene had Sinatra, Martin and Davis decked out as Santas and tolling for pennies. They had once been Chicago gang leaders, and they meekly accept a handout as their former hireling— Crosby — arrives at the theater in top hat.

It being a cold night and all, Sinatra and Martin were armed with double old-fashioned glasses filled with a familiar liquid.

While waiting for the next scene, Sinatra, Davis and Martin rehearsed a song and dance they would do in their Santa suits for the tag of the picture. The two Italian end men were supposed to ring hand bells; instead, they shook their old-fashioned glasses, causing some spillage.

Director Gordon Douglas, a man with a small mustache and immense patience, signaled that it was time for shooting. The trio reported to their positions, and a brief scene was shot.

"This is the way to make pictures," Martin declared. "We made 'Ocean's 11' 14 days under schedule, 'Sergeants 3' 11 days under schedule. The critics hated them, but they made lots of money, lots of money. You can't beat that."

Hit by Pellet

Alan Lang, 13, of 43 Grandview Avenue, suffered a wound in the right thigh Sunday when he was accidentally shot by a pellet fired by a young companion in woods near his home. He was treated in Benedictine Hospital. The mishap was investigated by Patrolmen George Dougherty and Weston Hoffay.

Miracle of TV Gives All Chance to Pay Respects

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — During the quiet time after Sunday's moving and incredible events, television networks sometimes aimed their cameras on the coffin of John F. Kennedy in the Capitol rotunda and showed the stream of people silently and reverently walking past the bier.

By the miracle of television, all Americans could pay their final respects in the same place. This was as it should be. Because of television the public knew, or felt it knew, President Kennedy better than any chief executive before him.

He had been a television visitor in most of our homes on an almost daily basis for more than three years. His death, therefore, was more than the tragic loss of a president or of a vital, needed young man. It was the loss of someone we felt we knew very well, almost as a member of a family.

We have seen him making formal speeches. We remember his grave warning of the Cuban crisis. But perhaps most of us got to know him best during those informal moments before the cameras—seated in a rocking chair talking informally and off the cuff from his White House office, being interviewed on the lawn of his Hyannis Port home, squinting against the sun and his hair ruffled by a sea wind, wittily parrying reporters questions in a light moment at a news conference.

During these last few days of national nightmare with shock piled on shock, television brought us more sights and sounds few of us will ever forget.

There was the face of self-controlled Jacqueline Kennedy bending to her children during services in the Capitol. There was Caroline putting out a small white gloved hand to touch the coffin during a brief moment with her mother beside the bier. There was that appalling moment when Lee Harvey Oswald was shot down in Dallas police headquarters as, through television, the eyes of the nation were on him and his killer.

The performance of the three networks has been splendid. They covered the mournful events in Washington and the terrible events in Dallas with great crews of men and equipment. Amid all the confusion—even pandemonium at one point Sunday in Dallas—they kept a sense of balance and order.

Regular programming will be resumed Tuesday and most of us will be glad to start picking up the threads of normal life again.

But television's fine performance during these critical days is something that they can be proud of and for which we can be grateful.

No Evidence Soviet Involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department authorities said Saturday they have no evidence indicating involvement of the Soviet Union or any other foreign power in the assassination of President Kennedy.

Lee Harvey Oswald, a former Marine who spent three years in the Soviet Union, has been charged with the shooting in Dallas, Tex., Friday.

When Oswald, 24, went to Russia he announced his intention to renounce his American citizenship. He told the U. S. Embassy in Moscow he was a Marxist.

After having a change of mind and returning to the United States last year, Oswald reportedly became an active sympathizer of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuba.

State Department authorities said they also know of no evidence that Cuba was involved in the assassination.

Illegal Possession Of Firearm Charged

Accused of illegal possession of a firearm, Ralph Nicholas Carrozza, 38, of 3084 Bordentown Avenue, Parlin, N. J., was arrested Sunday afternoon during a routine conservation department road block at Palenville.

Trooper William Hanna and BCI Investigator Joseph Valicenti of Leeds, reported the defendant was accused of having a gun in his car. Carrozza was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Webster, who ordered the case referred to the Greene County grand jury for investigation.

Beards went out of fashion in 15th Century Europe when the introduction of helmets with chin pieces made a hairy face impractical. Men also began to crop their hair short in bowl fashion.

The Onteora Central School is offering bus transportation to all students interested in attending a dress rehearsal of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Claude Monteux at the Poughkeepsie High School on Sunday, Dec. 8.

The performance will feature Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, a community mixed chorus and featured soloists.

Two Are Killed On Snowy Road

Dead were Richard J. Checola, of Baldwinsville, and Mrs. Anna E. Thater, 51, of Syracuse.

Police charged Edward McCormack, driver of one of the cars, with driving while intoxicated and failure to keep to the right.

Dorothea Tracey In Field Study At Local School

Miss Dorothea Tracey of Keuka College in Keuka Park, N. Y., is assisting in the Woodstock elementary school for the next five weeks.

Miss Tracey, who completed 8th grade in this school and is a 1963 graduate of Onteora, was awarded the title "Senior of the Year" at Onteora last year by the Honor Society with the approval of the faculty. She selected Keuka College to attend because it was a small, 587 girls, school and has an excellent program in journalism in which Miss Tracey expects to major.

As part of the regular college program, Keuka students spend five weeks every year away from the college campus doing some form of service. This college believes such a period of Field Service serves to link education more closely with life experiences. It is all designed to further the education of socially responsible citizens. All students must participate in this Field Period and the emphasis in the freshman year is in community service, many girls working in their own communities. In the sophomore year, the period is devoted to Cultural Services and in the last two years of college the work is in the student's major field.

Presently Miss Tracey is working with Mrs. Longyear in the office of the Woodstock school but it is expected that she will be working directly with the primary grade children and teachers before long.

Christian Science Thanksgiving Service

A traditional Thanksgiving Day service will be held in all Christian Science Churches on Thursday, Nov. 28. In Woodstock, the service will begin at 11 a. m. in First Church of Christ, Scientist, located at 85 Tinker Street.

A Bible Lesson on "Thanksgiving" will be read, opening with a verse from Psalms (33:1) "Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous; for praise is comely for the upright." The service will also include hymns, and a special period during which church members in the congregation may stand up and express their thanks.

Personal

Dr. Audrey Hamilton, chiropractor, will spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her children and will return to the Woodstock office on Dec. 1.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Nov. 25, the 329th day of 1963. There are 36 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1874, the Greenback party was organized at Indianapolis and adopted a platform of advocating payment of the national debt with greenbacks. The party's first presidential candidate, Peter Cooper of New York, received less than 82,000 votes in the 1875 election.

On this date:

In 1783, the British evacuated New York City after holding it for more than seven years of the Revolutionary War.

In 1863, the Battle of Missionary Ridge was fought during the Civil War.

In 1922, Benito Mussolini was granted dictatorial powers in Italy.

In 1943, an American naval force sank four Japanese destroyers in the Southwest Pacific during World War II.

In 1950, gales of near hurricane force, accompanied by rain and snow, swept 22 states from the East Coast to the Middle West, killing 278 persons and causing damage estimated at $400 million.

Ten years ago—The chief justice of U.S. courts in Germany, William Clark, said he would contest his dismisssal by the American State Department.

Five years ago — The former head of research at General Motors — Charles Kettering — died at 82.

One year ago — Candidates pledged to support President Charles de Gaulle won an absolute majority in the French National Assembly in two-round legislative elections.

IN CASE OF (MIS)FIRE—Before American astronauts can make a successful trip to the moon, it has to be proved that they can survive an unsuccessful one. A "boilerplate" (sheet metal) model of the three-man Apollo capsule is placed in position, left, at White Sands Missile Range, New Mexico, for an abort or malfunction test. Large escape rocket is attached to nose of the capsule. Sequence drawing, right, shows escape rocket ignition, escape rocket jettison, drogue chute release, main parachutes in reefed condition and finally fully open. In actual moon trip launch, Apollo capsule will sit atop a giant Saturn rocket 350 feet above the ground at Cape Canaveral.

Striking Employes Scheduled to Vote

HORSEHEADS, N. Y. (AP)—Striking employes of a Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant, where picket-line violence erupted last Monday, were scheduled to vote today on a company contract proposal.

Approval would end the 25-day-old walkout.

Negotiators for Westinghouse and the workers' union, Local 1833 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, agreed on the proposal Sunday.

Details of the agreement were not disclosed.

Egg - throwing, mud-slinging, out Nov. 18, when pickets of jeering demonstrations broke out Nov. 18, when pickets of the 900-member union tried to prevent salaried workers from entering the plant. The outbursts were halted later in the day.

Contract talks had snagged over job seniority. Westinghouse favored continuation of company - wide job seniority, while the local had opposed the plan, a union spokesman said.

The workers struck Nov. 1 after their old contract expired.

Life Insurance Queries, Answers

As a public service in cooperation with the Eastern New York Chapter of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, the following questions and answers on life insurance are presented. Queries may be sent to American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, 270 Bryn Mawr Avenue, Bryn Mawr, Pa.:

Question: I am going to have to make a lengthy business trip to South America and want to set up an additional block of life insurance for the family. Would I have to pay extra for this because of my iminent trip?

Answer: Probably not. "Probably" is used because of two things—you don't say precisely where you are going and the decision would vary somewhat from company to company. Each company has its own underwriting rules on this. It is a question of what risk is involved in the travel, as interpreted by the company. Generally, a business trip to South America would not be in the extra risk category. Only if you were going into the Amazon jungles or some hazardous out-land, would there be the likelihood of an extra premium. Today, travel through most of the world is covered at standard rates. The "trouble spots" are the exceptions and these change from time to time, according to current conditions. Central Africa, Asiatic "hot spots" and remote sections of some of the backward countries are exceptions. But most of the Western World, especially Europe and South America, are standard. This "extra premium" question, of course, applies only to any new insurance you might be buying in anticipation of a trip. Your existing insurance—unless specifying some exception due to previous hazardous travel — is not affected, wherever you go.

Problem of Mary

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Catholic devotions to the Virgin Mary constitute one of the "main obstacles to the reunion of Christendom," Hilda Graef writes in a new book, "The Devotions to Our Lady" (Hawthorn). However, she says that Marian piety is a "vital element in the faith of Catholics."

Probe 3 Deaths In Plane's Loss Of Wing in Air

CHERRY CREEK, N. Y. (AP) — An investigation was underway today into an airplane crash that killed three persons after the single-engine craft reportedly lost a wing in the air.

Lawrence Hodges, Chautauqua County deputy rescue coordinator, said eyewitnesses reported seeing a wing fly from the plane Saturday before it plunged into a field near here.

What caused the wing to break loose has not been learned.

Killed were Mrs. Bernice Wagner, 57, of Dunkirk; her sister, Mrs. Esther Dodds, 56, of New Galilee, Pa., and Mrs. Dodds' son, James, 36, of East Palestine, Ohio.

The accident occurred 15 minutes after the plane had taken off from Dunkirk. Dodds and his mother had flown from Beaver Falls, Pa., to pick up Mrs. Wagner.

Dodds was a partner in the Dodds Coal Co. of Beaver Falls and owned the plane, authorities said.

Bookkeeper Is Accused of Larceny

Charged with grand larceny first degree involving the alleged misappropriation of between $6,000 and $8,000 from a motor shop in the Town of Poughkeepsie, Basil Closson, 56, a bookkeeper of Poughkeepsie, was in custody today.

Closson, according to Town Detective Lieut. Richard Hellman, is accused of taking the money from Jocko's Motor Shop, 482 South Road, Town of Poughkeepsie, where he was employed as a bookkeeper.

The accused man was arraigned before Town Justice of the Peace George C. Dietz, who ordered the defendant held in the Dutchess County jail and referred the case to the grand jury. Closson is specifically charged with misappropriating $500 to his own use, but Lieut Hellman said the bookkeeper is accused of "doctoring the books" of the motor shop to an amount between $6,000 and $8,000.

DALLAS ASSASSINATION SCENES

RACE WITH DEATH—Bystanders hug the ground and newsreel cameramen take pictures as Dallas motorcycle policemen escort the presidential car (not shown in picture) in its race to the hospital with the dying President Kennedy.

PRESIDENT'S CAR—Unidentified Secret Serviceman, followed by Dallas Police Chief Jesse Curry, carries clothing from the presidential car in which President Kennedy was cut down by an assassin's bullets. The car is parked at the ambulance entrance to Parkland Hospital, where the President died.

SECONDS LATER — TRAGEDY—President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy are seen seated in the rear of their open limousine as the presidential cavalcade moved through downtown Dallas, Tex. Seconds later, the President was felled by an assassin's bullet. Texas Gov. John Connally, also shot, is obscured by his wife, seated ahead of Mrs. Kennedy.

SLAIN WHILE MILLIONS WATCHED—Lee H. Oswald, 24, the prime suspect in the assassination of President Kennedy, was slain in front of the television cameras Sunday while being transferred from the Dallas police station to the county jail. He died minutes after being shot at Parkland Hospital. Nightclub owner Jack Rubinstein, alias Jack Ruby, was arrested and charged with the killing.

ASSASSIN'S AMBUSH—Arrow points to the window on sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository building in Dallas from where assassin cut down President Kennedy with a high-powered rifle.

Actors Studio Lineup

NEW YORK (AP)—A tentative lineup of five productions has been drawn up for this season by the Actors Studio Theater. The enterprise began late last season with a hit revival of "Strange Interlude."

The initial offering is to be June Havoc's "Marathon '33." Following at intervals thereafter are to be: James Baldwin's "Blues for Mr. Charlie," Chekhov's "The Three Sisters," John Arden's "Serjant Musgrave's Dance" and a bill of one-acters starring Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward.

Rusted Away

Mars at one time may have had an abundant supply of oxygen, which literally rusted away. Astronomers speculate that the oxygen combined with iron in rocks to produce the vivid red deserts of the planet.

MURDEROUS INSTRUMENT—Dallas police Lt. Carl Day carefully carries the rifle used by the assassin of President Kennedy, police say. It was found along the fateful route taken by the President's car. It is a high-powered rifle, with telescopic sight.

Extinguish Brush Blaze

Fire fighters extinguished a brush blaze Sunday afternoon at the Ups and Downs on West Chestnut Street. Personnel from Engine 3, Cornell, and Rapid Hose, under Capt. Robert Hardwick, used an Indina tank to extinguish the fire.

Woman Suffers Shock When Autos Collide

A Saugerties woman suffered shock Sunday afternoon after 2 p. m. when the car in which she was riding was involved in a collision on Route 32 at Rosendale.

Kingston State Trooper Robert Mackey reported the cars were driven by Robert Henry Wilcox, 55, of 6 Robinson Street, Saugerties, and Concetta Eugenia Contini, 18, of Taylor Street, Bloomington.

Grace Finkbeiner, 70, of 6 Robinson Street, Saugerties, a passenger in the Wilcox car suffered shock. Trooper Mackey reported Wilcox was traveling south on Route 32 when he applied the brakes on a curve.

The Bloomington car went off the east side of the pavement after the driver applied the brakes to avoid a collision. The car hit a bush and then returned to the highway where it was in collision with the Wilcox vehicle, troopers said.

Accidentally Shot While Hunting

While hunting in a wooded area in the Town of Saugerties at 7:40 a. m. Sunday, Marino Porcaro, 42, of 11 Bryant Avenue, New Hyde Park, was accidently shot in the right foot when his rifle discharged.

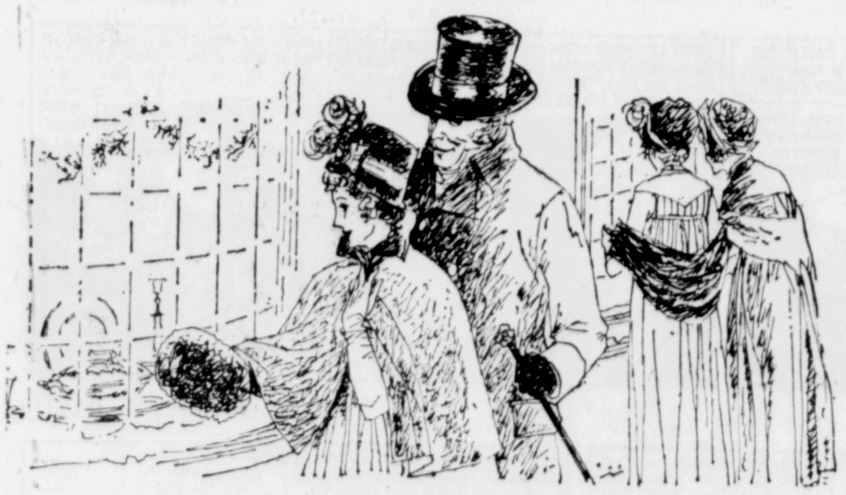

Kingston State Police said Porcaro stopped in the woods to blow his nose, and as he placed the gun against a rock, the weapon slipped. Porcaro grabbed the rifle and it accidently discharged.

Troopers said the slug hit Porcaro's right foot. He was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital for treatment, according to a report of BCI Investigator Richard Ryan of the sub-station.

Items Taken From Car

A car was rifled while it was parked in the Mid-City Bowling Lanes parking lot. Police said a wallet containing papers and keys was taken from the car of James Mitchell, of 61 Marius Street.

The Best Medicine

Laughter really is the best medicine.

A healer of the body as well as of the mind, it creates harmony, not only within oneself, but in those with whom one comes in contact.

Test of the Illinois State Medical Society prove that laughter reduces muscle tension, relaxes the tissues, and stimulates the muscles and organs of the body by introducing more adrenal fluid into the blood stream.

A mother sent her 5-year-old daughter to the store for some powdered sugar. To specify the grade she wanted, the mother wrote four X's on a piece of paper and told her to give it to the grocer.

When the child's daddy came home, he asked her if she had helped her mother that day.

Governments and People Around the World Mourn

LONDON (AP) — Governments and men and women around the world joined today in mourning services for President Kennedy. Their grief was mixed with shock and astonishment at the assassination of Lee H. Oswald.

They started in the Far East, where Nov. 25 first dawned, and followed around the globe as it turned to the sun.

Only in Communist China was there no official observance of the President's funeral. The Chinese Reds reported Kennedy's death Friday, but have made no comment on it. Sunday, however, they assailed President Johnson, saying he supported reactionary policies under Kennedy.

Thousands of American soldiers attended memorial services in South Korea. Most of the 50,000 GI's were taken off duty to observe the day of mourning and attend the services.

Japanese Emperor Hirohito sent Crown Prince Akihito and Crown Princess Michiko to memorial services at Tokyo's St. Ignatius Church. The government ordered the Japanese flag flown at half staff over all government buildings today and Tuesday.

At U.S. bases throughout Japan the big guns roared final salutes over the heads of 50,000 servicemen and their dependents, assembled in a cold rain.

Most of the 10,000 Americans on Formosa attended religious services for the President. Thousands of Chinese from all walks of life joined them. Nationalist China's flags also were at half staff.

But much of the atmosphere of sorrow began to be tinged with disquiet that the assassin had been at least associated with the Communist party.

Communist Reaction

Communist propaganda organs reacted immediately to the news of Oswald's killing with charges that he had been slain to cover up the real authors of Kennedy's assassination. The Red press and radio attributed both killings to extreme right-wingers.

The Italian tricolor flew at half staff for the third day, and unions throughout Italy scheduled five-minute pauses of respect for the dead American.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru and President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan attended a memorial service at the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi. Then Nehru drove to Parliament to eulogize Kennedy. Both houses adjourned after members stood in silent homage.

Westerners in Moscow paid their respects to Kennedy's memory at Protestant services at Spaso House, residence of U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler, and at Catholic rites at the Soviet capital's one small Roman Catholic church, St. Louis le Francais.

In Poland, flags were at half staff on all official buildings, and the government radio and television stations played appropriate music.

The Allied garrisons in West Berlin attended memorial services at the U.S. headquarters. Officials of the Berlin city government also were present.

Johnson's First 2 Letters Go to Kennedy Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first two letters Lyndon B. Johnson signed as President were to the two children whose father is buried today.

The letters to Caroline Kennedy, 6 years old Wednesday, and John F. Kennedy Jr., 3 years old today, told them at the beginning they perhaps are too young to understand it all now.

Johnson wrote them last Friday just after his return from Texas and only hours after he had been sworn in to succeed their slain father in the highest office of the nation.

Donnelly Fined $10 On Traffic Charge

A car reported to be occupied by several hunters went off Hardenburgh Road, town of Esopus, at 1 p. m. Sunday about 1,000 feet west of Union Center Road and knocked down about 25 feet of wooden fence. The incident was reported by Mrs. William Daum of Hardenburgh Road. Deputy Sheriffs Emil Kuhnen and Robert Doran and Town of Esopus Constable Harold Barton investigated.

Francis J. Donnelly, 29, of 53 Lawrence Street, Kingston, driving a car owned by Richard P. Diers of 27 DeWitt Street reported his attention had been attracted by another car and he ran off the left side of the road. He was charged with failure to keep right and was taken before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie of town of Esopus where he was fined $10.

Planning to Sell?

Before hanging out a "for sale" sign, bring the external appearance of a house up to par. For example, an old roof can be a sales deterrent while a roof re-shingled with asphalt shingles can be a positive selling feature.

Boston Common, set aside in 1634 as public property, ranks as America's oldest public park. In 1830, the city fathers drove off the cows and planted trees and flowers.

Taxes and Rights May Be Shelved For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax reduction and civil rights, President Kennedy's top legislative proposals, appeared likely today to be temporarily sidetracked by a drive to adjourn Congress and give President Johnson a breathing spell.

The push for early adjournment was led by House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and had substantial backing from members of both parties who believe Congress should adjourn and engage in no more bickering this year. The two pending proposals are the most controversial in Congress.

Halleck's adjournment target is Dec. 14. Democratic leaders have called for continuation of the session until Jan. 3, with a Christmas recess of two weeks. Jan. 3 is the date for opening of the next session of the present Congress.

"We should expedite what we have to do and adjourn," Halleck said in an interview. "Let's give the new President time to get his feet on the ground."

The vehicle for Halleck's adjournment drive is a resolution to provide temporary financing for federal agencies whose appropriations for the present fiscal year have not been made. It is the fourth such resolution since the fiscal year started on July 1 and comes before the House Tuesday.

The new measure would provide funds for the month of December. Halleck will attempt to change the date probably to next Jan. 31 on the assumption that Congress could dispose of other necessary measures between now and Dec. 14.

Democratic leaders already have all but officially given up hope of action this year on civil rights and tax legislation but feel that Congress should remain in session as long as there is any chance for action.

240,000 in Line To Pay Respects At Casket of JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands upon thousands of persons braved long hours in freezing weather to file past the casket of John F. Kennedy in the Capitol rotunda. Other thousands waited without success.

Charles J. Sullivan, chief of Capitol police, estimated 240,000 had moved past the bier of the slain President when the doors were closed to the public at 8:30 a.m.

At least 2,000 others, still waiting in a line stretching blocks away, were left stranded after standing for six to seven hours. Police steered them to vantage points around the Capitol plaza from which they could see the funeral procession leave for the White House.

The steady shuffle of feet had continued without a break from 3 p.m. Sunday through the afternoon and night as the crowds waited patiently for a chance to pay their last respects.

Former Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon were among the last to be admitted, along with a small group of officials' families and others, after the waiting line was halted.

Blinded by Lights Car Strikes Tree

Richard Reed Hummer, 18, of 303 Foxhall Avenue, received scalp lacerations Saturday about 11:30 p. m. when his car struck a tree on the Whiteport Road near DeWitt Lake. He was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Hummer was driving east on Whiteport road, making a left turn when he reported he was blinded by lights of another car. He ran off the right side of the road and struck a tree. The front of the car was damaged.

Deputy Sheriffs Daniel Levy and Vincent D. Van De Mark investigated.

Fish cackle, yowl, wheeze, honk, bark, groan and snore. National Geographic marine biologists using hydrophones report that schools of shrimp snap and groupers boom.

Four-Time All-DUSO

Natale Named OTBA Winner KHS Senior Player Award

Receives Trophy At Dec. 5 Dinner

A three-time All-DUSO baseball selection, Paul Natale today was named winner of the Old Timers Baseball Association's Kingston High School Senior Player of the Year Award. A three-letter man, he was awarded eight varsity K's.

Natale, who is the son of Mr.

PAUL NATALE

and Mrs. Paul Natale of East Kingston, will receive his trophy at the Old Timer's annual Hall of Fame dinner on Dec. 5 at the Elks Lodge.

To be honored with Natale are three former Ulster County area baseball greats — Bill Lohrman, former major league pitcher; William McAuliffe, a pitcher with the original Kingston Colonials, and Lester Lawrence, long time manager-player in the Olive Bridge area.

Picked at Two Spots

One of the finest, most versatile athletes at Kingston High School in recent years, Natale was an All-DUSO baseball choice for three straight years. He was named as an outfielder in 1960 and in 1961 and 1962 was rated the No. 1 catcher in the league.

He played three years of varsity football, making All-DUSO end in 1962; and also won two varsity letters in basketball.

A solid 6 foot 1, 185-pound right hander, Natale was a good line drive clutch hitter. He batted a sensational .540 as a sophomore outfielder in 1960 and better than .350 the next two years as a catcher.

Named by Coach

Natale was selected as the high school player of the year by Coach Paul Gruner and the baseball staff at Kingston High. He is now attending St. Lawrence University.

Principal speaker at the dinner will be Tracy Stallard, a pitcher with the New York Mets. Invitations have been extended to other sports personalities.

Old Timers Association president, John J. McCardle points out that the Hall of Fame dinner is open to the public. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the organization or at Flanagan's and Kaye Sportwair on Wall Street. Thomas M. Davitt is dinner chairman.

Triple Tie In Eastern

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals, a bounce-back bunch trying to prove that youth must be served, have thrown the National Football League's Eastern Conference title scramble into a triple tie with only three games remaining.

Led by the passing of quarterback Charley Johnson and a quartet of defensive specialists with only 10 years of pro experience between them—Larry Wilson, Garland Boyette, Sam Silas and Joe Robb—the Cardinals whipped the New York Giants 24-17 Sunday.

Three weeks ago, New York quarterback Y. A. Tittle passed for four touchdowns and the Giant defense forced the Cardinals to give up the ball four times on interceptions and three times on fumbles. The result was a 38-21 victory over St. Louis.

Different Story

It was a completely opposite story this time.

Tittle, who had only four passes intercepted in 10 previous games, watched Wilson steal two. Boyette pounced on a fumble that led to the Cardinals' clinching touchdown. And Robb and Silas smashed Tittle to the ground twice in the last two minutes as he brought the Giants within striking distance of the tying touchdown.

The triumph catapaulted the Cardinals into a first-place tie with the Giants and Cleveland Browns, who defeated Dallas 27-17. All three teams have 8-3 records. The Browns will be at St. Louis this Sunday while New York is at Dallas.

Pittsburgh's Steelers remained in contention in the East, boosting their record to 6-3-2 by battling the Western Division - leading Chicago Bears to a 17-17 tie. The Bears now are 9-1-1 to 9-2 for the Green Bay Packers, 28-10 conquerors of San Francisco.

LA Nips Colts

In other games, Los Angeles knocked off Baltimore 17-16 on a third period field goal by Danny Villanueva, Tommy Mason cracked over for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter as Minnesota defeated Detroit 34-31 and Washington edged

The seven-game NFL program went on as scheduled, only two days after the assassination of President Kennedy, despite protests from some quarters. The crowds were sombre, but attendances were not affected.

The American Football League postponed its four-game program.

U. S. Net Stars Set for Tourney

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —The United States will send its big Davis Cup 1-2 punch—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston—into the Victorian Tennis Championships starting Thursday at the Kooyong Club.

McKinley is returning to action after being sidelined by a recurring back ailment which struck him recently in the New South Wales Tournament at Sydney.

Ralston, 20, from Bakersfield, Calif., won the New South Wales tourney and went to the finals of the South Australian Championships before losing to John lian junior titleholder.

Ralston, who said he was saddened by the death of President Kennedy, merely went through the motions in the final match, losing 6-1, 6-3, 15-17, 6-1. It was his first singles defeat in Australia.

"I couldn't help thinking about the assassination all the time I was on the court," he said. Then he added: "John played terrific tennis—he probably would have beaten me, anyhow."

The American ace was reluctant to play but did so when he was told by William Battle, U.S. ambassador to Australia, that the late President Kennedy would have wished him to do so.

BIRTHDAY FOR BOWLING GREAT: A lot of holiday spirit was crammed into one day at the Marion Ladewig homesite in Grand Rapids, Michigan, when bowling's queen and her courtly granddaughters celebrated their birthday recently. It was number 49 for the tenpin toppling grandmother while the twins celebrated number 3 by lighting three candles to wish their favorite bowler the best of luck as she prepared for a possible fourth World's Invitational title in the tournament now in progress at Chicago. This year Mrs. Ladewig was voted "Woman Bowler of the Year" for the ninth time.

Saugerties High Cage Team Hopes for Improved Season

Eight Vets Back; Club to Commence Play on Dec. 6

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Saugerties High coach John P. (Bud) Smith hopes to rebound his Sawyers from last year's 6-12 record into a solid DCSL contender this time around.

Despite the loss of high scorer Mike Dodig, the popular Smith is somewhat optimistic that this year will be a better one. "We've got eight lettermen back and they are anxious to make a good showing," he said.

Returnees are Mike Brady, Paul Buytkins, John Crispino, John Luchkowec, Earl Martin and Chuck Schirmer, all seniors and juniors Don Leard and Glenn Davis. Others on the roster are Rich Greco, Bruce Owens and Fred Seither Jr.

No Height, Much Speed

"We haven't much height but the speed is good and there is a lot of hustle. We'll have a respectable season," coach Smith said.

Leard is the tallest cager. He stands at 6-2. Martin is 6-0 and the others are under that mark.

The Sawyers are working hard on defense. "If we can master that phase of the game, it will make us that much tougher," Smith said. The former Ithaca College star teaches a man-to-man defense.

Rates Beacon Tough

He feels Beacon will be the club to watch in the league. The Beaconites were 18-0 last year and have virtually the same club returning.

That 6-12 record of the Sawyers was the worst season a Smith coached club has had at the school. He has been a highly successful coach and is hoping the cagers will return to their successes of other years this coming season.

Saugerties will again open against rugged Pine Plains on Dec. 6. Non-league engagements are also slated with Newburgh, Catskill, Ellenville and Cardinal Farley Military Academy as well as Rondout Valley.

The schedule:

Ten Teams In

HOUSTON (AP)—Ten teams are under consideration for the Dec. 21 Bluebonnet Bowl.

Lou Hassell, executive director, listed the teams Thursday as Oklahoma, Nebraska, Louisiana State, Auburn, Georgia Tech, Navy, Baylor, Memphis State, Mississippi State and Pittsburgh.

Right after Wayne Hardin, the Navy coach, extolled Roger Staubach as the greatest quarterback he had ever seen ("And I've seen Unitas and Tittle,") coach Tom Harp of Cornell shrugged, "I wouldn't trade my guy (Gary Wood) for his. He's a far better runner. You don't hear about him as much because we don't emphasize the pass." . . .

All-everything Staubach once signed a "letter of intent" to go to Purdue . . . before scouts from the Naval Academy persuaded him he'd be better off prepping in New Mexico . . .

How times change: For getting blasted by the Bears 26-7 before a jammed house in Wrigley Field, the Packers went home to Green Bay with a check in the vicinity of $60,000 (which makes it a nice neighborhood) signed with a flourish by George (Papa Bear) Halas . . . but when the same Packers appeared in the same place back in 1932, George couldn't get up the necessary $2,500 guarantee . . . so he sent Green Bay packing with $1,000 . . . and a note for the remaining $1,500. . .

The best linebacking prospect in the country could be 231-pound Sammy Joe Odom, who was once on the Chinese Bandits at Louisiana State . . . but transferred his talents to Northwest Louisiana. . . .

If you don't believe boxing makes strange bedfellows, take the case of Bud Adams, millionaire manager . . . Before Bud got deeply involved, associate Hugh Benbow "brought this fella around for a cup of coffee and said, 'I want you to meet this friend of mine named Carbo.' . . . Carbo, Carbo, I wondered. Seems to me I've heard that name before" . . .

Superscout Don Klosterman of the Kansas City Chiefs pegs halfback Gale Sayers of Kansas as "the second best runner in football." . . . that leaves only Jimmy Brown the logical No. 1 . . .

The funny thing about horse guys is that they never talk about the point of the entire business — racing . . . Instead, their conversation always meanders to breeding, where the real money is . . . When anybody ribs Jack Price about the sketchy blood lines of Carry Back, he flips, "I guess Man o' War must have come down from heaven." . . .

Jim Lee Howell, the personnel nabob of the New York Giants, describes center Dick Butkus of Illinois as "one of the hardest hitters I've ever seen — he's the kind who makes helmets fly-off." . . .

Coach Dave Nelson of undefeated Delaware turned down the Illinois head job in 1959 and figures it's too late for him to go anywhere — as a coach . . . "Why," he says, "I've been in this as long as Bud (Wilkinson) and Bear (Bryant) — 18 years." . . . His Delaware ace, Mike Brown, a swift 200-pounder, wasn't even sought by other schools "because he was a bad high school football player — we thought of him mostly as a track man." . . .

From all his years of football, Y. A. Tittle picks out an Alley Oop toss to R. C. Owens in 1957 as the greatest pass he has ever thrown . . . It gave the 49ers a last-second victory over Detroit. . . .

Woody Hayes has amended his offense at Ohio State . . . It's now "three yards and a cloud of sod" instead of "dust" . . . That's because they're improved the turf in Columbus. . . .

Between you'n'me, one great pro linebacker insist his emergence as an all-pro candidate has nothing to do with talent . . . "I licked my problem," he says, "—drinking." . . .

College Gridders to Resume With Bowl Bids on the Line

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most of the nation's major colleges, stunned and shocked by the death of the President, have delayed until this weekend their football day of decision.

Only two teams, Texas and Nebraska, have nailed down major bowl berths and only Nebraska accomplished it last weekend. Still to be decided are both teams in the Rose and Sugar bowls, and the visiting teams in Orange and Cotton bowls.

Most were scheduled for settlement last weekend, but were postponed because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

The traditional clash between Army and Navy, scheduled in Philadelphia Saturday, still is in doubt. Officials of both service institutions have expressed a desire to play, however, so the chances of cancellation appear to be remote.

Navy, ranked second at 8-1 and possessing the season's most highly publicized player in quarterback Roger Staubach, is a solid favorite to make it five in a row over Army, 7-2.

May Go to Coton

The Middies are considered prime candidates for the Cotton Bowl, to oppose top-ranked Texas. The Longhorns, the nation's only major unbeaten, untied team at 9-0, already have clinched the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. They close the regular season against old foe Texas A&M, 2-6-1.

Nebraska won the Big Eight title, its first in 23 years, and clinched the Orange Bowl spot in one of the few games played Saturday. The 10th - ranked Huskers rolled over No. 6 Oklahoma 29-20.

The only other member of the top ten in action was No. 9 Auburn, which advanced its record to 8-1 with a 21-15 victory over Florida State. Auburn plays seventh-ranked Alabama at Tuscaloosa Saturday, with both considered leading candidates for a major bowl berth.

Games in East Lansing, Mich. Los Angeles and Seattle, all postponed from last Saturday, will determine the Rose Bowl opponents.

Seek Big 10 Title

Michigan State, ranked fourth, and Illinois, ranked eighth, play at East Lansing Thursday. Each has a 6-1-1 record. The winner gets the Big Ten title and the visiting spot in the Rose Bowl.

The host role will be determined Saturday in the Washington-Washington State and Southern California-UCLA games. A victory for Washington probably would clinch it, with a loss throwing the spot to Southern Cal, providing the Trojans beat UCLA.

The Sugar Bowl is still wide open. Chief contenders appear to be Auburn, Alabama, Mississippi, and Pitt.

Some Didn't Feel Like It... But 63,779 Saw Cards Beat Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—The fellow on the subway turned to the man on the next strap and said, "To tell you the truth, I don't feel like going to the game."

But he went. And so did 63,779 others—all that Yankee Stadium will hold—for the big battle between the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday.

The Giants announced that any one who wanted could get his money back, but no one did. Instead, dozens of men met the people as they came out of the subway entrances in front of the grey concrete stadium and asked:

"Any extra tickets to sell? Any tickets?"

These fellows are always there. There are never enough tickets to go around for the Giant games, and there are always men who hope to buy some from people whose friends stayed home.

Usually they shout their offers to buy. Sunday they were not so loud.

A Subdued Throng

The people with tickets were not loud, either, and did not do any of the things people usually do who are going to football games, jabbering, waving, almost skipping along, full of the excitement of the day.

Many carried small radios.

"Is he dead?" a man asked another who had a radio.

"Yes," the man with the radio said. "He's dead." He meant the man who shot the President, and was shot himself just before most of the people left home to go to the game.

"What kind of people are they, down there in Dallas?" asked the man, and he kept shaking his head.

"Maybe Sonny Liston was right," said the other man. "About being ashamed of America."

The game began. It was an important game, as football games go, but there was no life in it.

The players went through all the motions down there on the green field in the late November haze, but it seemed as if they were moving with the jerky movements of a man whose leg has gone to sleep and is trying to walk it back to life again.

The eye played tricks and slowed everything down. When there were cheers they sounded thin and unreal, as if they came from somewhere else far away.

A football was kicked into the stands and a couple of kids scrambled for it, but they didn't seem to care if they got it or not.

Stayed to the End

The Giants lost, and it seemed somehow fitting, because their fans are fans who shout the roof right off the Stadium when they win and they weren't going to shout this day, no matter what.

The Giants lost, but it didn't seem to be a tragedy to anyone there.

The crowd stayed to the end, right to the end, as if the people had no place else to go.

And when the game was over they all started down the big sloping ramps at once, shoving and jostling, but they didn't talk about anything.

"Stop shoving," one man finally said to another. "Act civilized."

"I'm not shoving," the man said, but he stopped.

The crowd thinned out a little and the people walked through the gates.

"I wonder if they should have played?" a man asked the man next to him.

"I don't know," the other man said. "I'm not God. Where else were they going to go today?"

Royals Defeat Hawks, 122-113

CINCINNATI (AP) — A blazing first half by Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas and sharp-shooting by Adrian Smith and Wayne Embry in the second carried the Cincinnati Royals to a 122-113 victory over the St. Louis Hawks in Sunday night's only National Basketball Association game.

The "Big O" hit at a 100 per cent clip in the opening period—five shots for five goals. In the second quarter, Lucas scored nine points in 2 minutes, 35 seconds.

Sunday's only other scheduled meeting, Boston at Detroit, was postponed out of respect for the death of President Kennedy.

Two games were played and two others postponed Saturday. The New York Knickerbockers whipped Detroit, 108-99, and St. Louis downed Cincinnati, 133-121. Philadelphia at Boston and San Francisco at Los Angeles were both postponed.

Within minutes, Summerville was dead, victim of a heart attack.

Sports Events Are Postponed In JFK Memory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most sports events were postponed over the weekend, in memory of President Kennedy. No sports contests will be held today.

A few weekend events went on as scheduled, including seven games in the National Football League Sunday. Almost all college football games were put off. The American Football League postponed its four-game card.

In stadiums where games were played, crowds for the most part were unusually subdued but they were as thick as ever.

There was no television.

Feelings ran high on the question of cancellation in some places. The NFL received a number of telephone calls from people who thought the games should not have been played.

Players Fight

Two players on the Philadelphia Eagles fought each other into the hospital in a dispute over whether the game with the Washington Redskins should go on. Coach Nick Skorich suspended the participants, Ben Scotti and John Mellekas.

The cancellation pattern was spotty, and seemed largely a matter of individual taste.

Harvard, the late President's alma mater, and Yale moved promptly to postpone their Saturday game for one week. Dozens of other schools followed suit.

Only 34 major and minor college football games were played Friday night and Saturday, 21 in the South, six in the Southwest, five in the Midwest and two in the Far West.

All Eastern games were postponed, as were those in the Big Ten and the Far West Big Six.

Most of the games were rescheduled for later dates, although a few were canceled.

Most race tracks stopped their programs Friday when news of the assassination came, and stayed dark Saturday. Only Pimlico ran a program Saturday.

All racing will be shut down today, and some tracks will not resume until Wednesday.

The third round of the Cajun golf tournament at Lafayette, La., Saturday was postponed. Two rounds were played Sunday. The winner, Rex Baxter Jr., said, "We played unnoticed today."

Most professional basketball and some professional hockey games were postponed.

Hawks Now Lead By Seven Points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Black Hawks are turning the National Hockey League race into a runaway.

The Hawks raced off to a 6-0 lead after only seven minutes of the second period, and coasted home 7-3 Sunday night over the Montreal Canadiens.

The Toronto Maple Leafs and the New York Rangers played to a 3-3 tie in the other game.

The Detroit-Boston game at Boston was postponed because of the assassination of President Kennedy. The Bruins played Toronto Saturday night at Toronto, with the Leafs winning 4-1.

The Black Hawks, who led the NHL most of last season but faded to second in the final days, now hold a nine point lead over second place Toronto. The Canadiens are another point back in third.

Sombre Crowds Attend NFL Tilts

Cardinals Stop Giants, 24-17; Pitt Ties Bears

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The crowds were sombre. But the stands were filled.

That was Sunday, some 48 hours after the assassination of President Kennedy, as the National Football League staged its seven-game program on schedule despite vigorous verbal protests from some quarters and players openly shaken by tragedy.

"I cried when I heard Mr. Kennedy had been killed," said San Francisco tackle Bob St. Clair. "I didn't really want to play," said Washington receiver Bobby Mitchell. "I guess I feel like everyone else. I've lost a brother."

But after memorial ceremonies were conducted before the games at the seven cities, St. Clair and Mitchell and some 500 other NFL players took the field. The stands were filled, with few exceptions.

At Pittsburgh, the Steelers played to a 17-17 tie with the Chicago Bears before the biggest crowd of the season at Forbes Field, 36,465. And, at Los Angeles, where the Rams edged Baltimore 17-16, a crowd of 48,555 was on hand, largest since opening day.

Few Seats Vacant

Elsewhere, there were some seats left vacant by ticketholders who stayed home, and club spokesmen said refunds would be made to those who had bought tickets but did not attend the games. But there will be few refunds.

A sellout crowd of 62,992 was in New York's Yankee Stadium as St. Louis defeated the Giants 24-17, a sellout of 45,905 at Milwaukee saw Green Bay beat San Francisco 28-10 and 55,096 were at Cleveland as the Browns defeated Dallas 27-17.

At Minneapolis - St. Paul, where 20,000 copies of the Star Spangled Banner were distributed to fans, a crowd of 28,763 witnessed the Vikings' 34-31 victory over Detroit. And the last 1,500 tickets were sold just before game time at Philadelphia, where 60,671 saw Washington's 13-10 victory over the Eagles.

Redskins' Coach Bill McPeak said the team will send the game ball to the White House as a symbol of the deep feeling the Washington players felt for the late President Kennedy.

Playing for President

"I don't want to be morbid or corny," said McPeak, "but I really feel our gang was playing today for President Kennedy and in his memory.

"We were very surprised that Commissioner Pete Rozelle decided to have the game played. We at first thought it a bad idea. But then we were told we were to play, so we decided that this is the way President Kennedy would have wanted it."

Rozelle reaffirmed his decision to go ahead with the schedule at the same time the American Football League postponed its four-game program.

"Everyone has a different way of paying respects," he said. "I went to church and I imagine many of the people at the games did too. I cannot feel that playing the games was disrespectful."

Giants' linebacker Sam Huff had this to say:

"I feel depressed. I feel as bad about it as anybody. But staying home and moping around wouldn't do any good.

"That is our life. The people who don't like it, that's their right.

Many Top Bouts Slated This Week

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

A flock of international bouts—featuring such names as light heavy champion Willie Pastrano, former middleweight king Terry Downes and heavyweight contender Billy Daniels—and a rescheduled television fight headline this week's boxing activity.

Pastrano, the Miami Beach, Fla., light-heavy boss has a 10-round non-title bout scheduled with unranked African Mike Holt at Johannesburg, South Africa Saturday night.

A possible future contender for Pastrano's title, England's boxing bookie Terry Downes, will be in action tonight.

The bout could be of considerable future importance since Pusateri is one of the more impressive young fighters in his class, and a protege of former heavyweight king Rocky Marciano.

Downes, who once held a share of the middleweight title, retired briefly a year ago but is making a come-back in the higher weight class and has his sights set on a shot at Pastano's title.

Still another important international bout is scheduled in Frankfurt, Germany Friday night. That one pits Brooklyn's Billy Daniels, a lanky heavyweight contender, against Germany's Karl Mildenberger in a 10-rounder.

Daniels, ranked seventh by the WBA, gave undefeated Cassius Clay one of his toughest fights. He staggered Clay twice on May 19, 1962, before the referee halted the bout in the seventh round because of cuts suffered by Daniels.

New President Conferred With Robert Kennedy

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Post reported in a copyrighted story today that moments after the death of President Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson conferred with the dead President's brother, Robert F. Kennedy.

The two agreed, the paper said, that Johnson should immediately take the oath that made him the 36th president of the United States.

The story, written by Executive Editor William Hobby Jr., said the attorney general and Johnson conferred by radio-telephone while Johnson was aboard the presidential plane, "Air Force One," at Love Field in Dallas.

Robert Kennedy and Johnson agreed that the vice president should take the oath before leaving Dallas, it said.

The oath was then administered by U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas.

Slight Changes Listed for '64 Feed Grain Plan

Participation in the Feed Grain Program will be necessary again in 1964 in order to be eligible for price support on 1964-crop corn, grain sorghum, and barley, E. M. Wood, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Ulster County Committee, reminds farmers.

Minimum acreage diversion under the program will be 20 per cent of a farm's total feed grain base (for the three grains). Producer signup will start Feb. 10.

The chairman explained that the program for the three grains will be similar to the 1963 program except for these slight modifications:

Modifications Announced

The top limit on diversion is increased from 40 to 50 per cent or 25 acres, whichever is greater;

In computing diversion and price-support payments, the average yield figures will be based on the 4-year (1959-62) average instead of the 2-year (1959-60) average;

The feed grain base of any producer who planted up to 30 acres of wheat for home use under the feed grain exemption during any one of the years 1959, 1960, and 1961 will be increased to the extent the 3-year average of such wheat acreage exceeded 15 acres;

While the total price supports for the three grains in 1964 are unchanged from 1963 levels, a slightly larger proportion of the supports will be available as loans or purchases, with corresponding decreases in price-support payments;

Payments to any producer are limited to not more than 20 per cent of the fair market value of any acreage involved, and

The maximum payment rate will apply to all the acreage diverted where the total diversion on the farm is 40 per cent or more of the base.

Eligible farmers will be notified of their feed grain base and payment rates—also time and place for enrollment.
